

THE VOYAGER

Volume Number Eight

Nineteen Thirty-two

Published by

The Senior Class

Carnegie High School Carnegie, Pennsylvania

Foreword

May the Voyager bring to you an interesting summary of the past year of scholastic activities and in future years serve to recall many pleasant memories.

We wish to thank the faculty, patrons, and entire student body for their splended cooperation in making this Voyager of 1932 possible.

The Carnegie High School was founded in 1896 with a three year course which was changed to a four-year course in 1915. The first class of twelve members was graduated in 1899. The present Senior class numbers 74 and the school had an enrollment of 635 during the past year.

The Andrew Carnegie Public Library was established in 1899. The students of the high school recognize the privileges and benefits afforded them by this institution and appreciate the service rendered to them by the board of management and the librarians.

We wish to dedicate this Voyager of 1932 to

Effie A. Milliren

in recognition of her faithful service, sympathetic encouragement, excellent standards of scholarship, high ideals, and enthusiastic participation in student activities.

An Appreciation

Mr. T. J. George

Norman L. Glasser

Every true and devoted man builds during life his own memorial. The teacher works with human material and so builds his memorial in the minds and souls of those entrusted to his care. Mr. George was a teacher for almost half a century. For thirty years he served our own schools, first as high school principal and later as superintendent. During these years he inspired thousands of children and hundreds of teachers with his spirit of work, his moral seriousness and his splendid enthusiasm. In the souls of these, he erected a lasting memorial.

Mr. George was at all times a man of action, a worker. No man ever devoted himself to his profession with greater singleness of purpose. His great success hinged mainly upon his exalted notion of the value of work. He believed firmly that nothing of worth can be obtained except by strenuous effort. He led the way by working as few men are willing to work. No sacrifice was too great to be made for the welfare of the boys and girls. They were his consuming interest. He imposed discipline to the end that all children on the way to an education must acquire regular and orderly habits of honest work. This exalted idea of work set him apart and made him an outstanding teacher, a great schoolmaster.

It is a duty and a privilege to remind you, the present students, of the deep and abiding love that Mr. George, the founder, had for the Carnegie High School, and to call upon you to "carry on" in that fine spirit which characterized his life.

We who were privileged to work with him learned to respect and love him. Now as our thoughts turn back, we honor him for "the high stern-featured beauty of his plain devotedness to duty."

THOMAS JEFFERSON GEORGE

1857-1931

Principal of Carnegie High School 1897-1911.

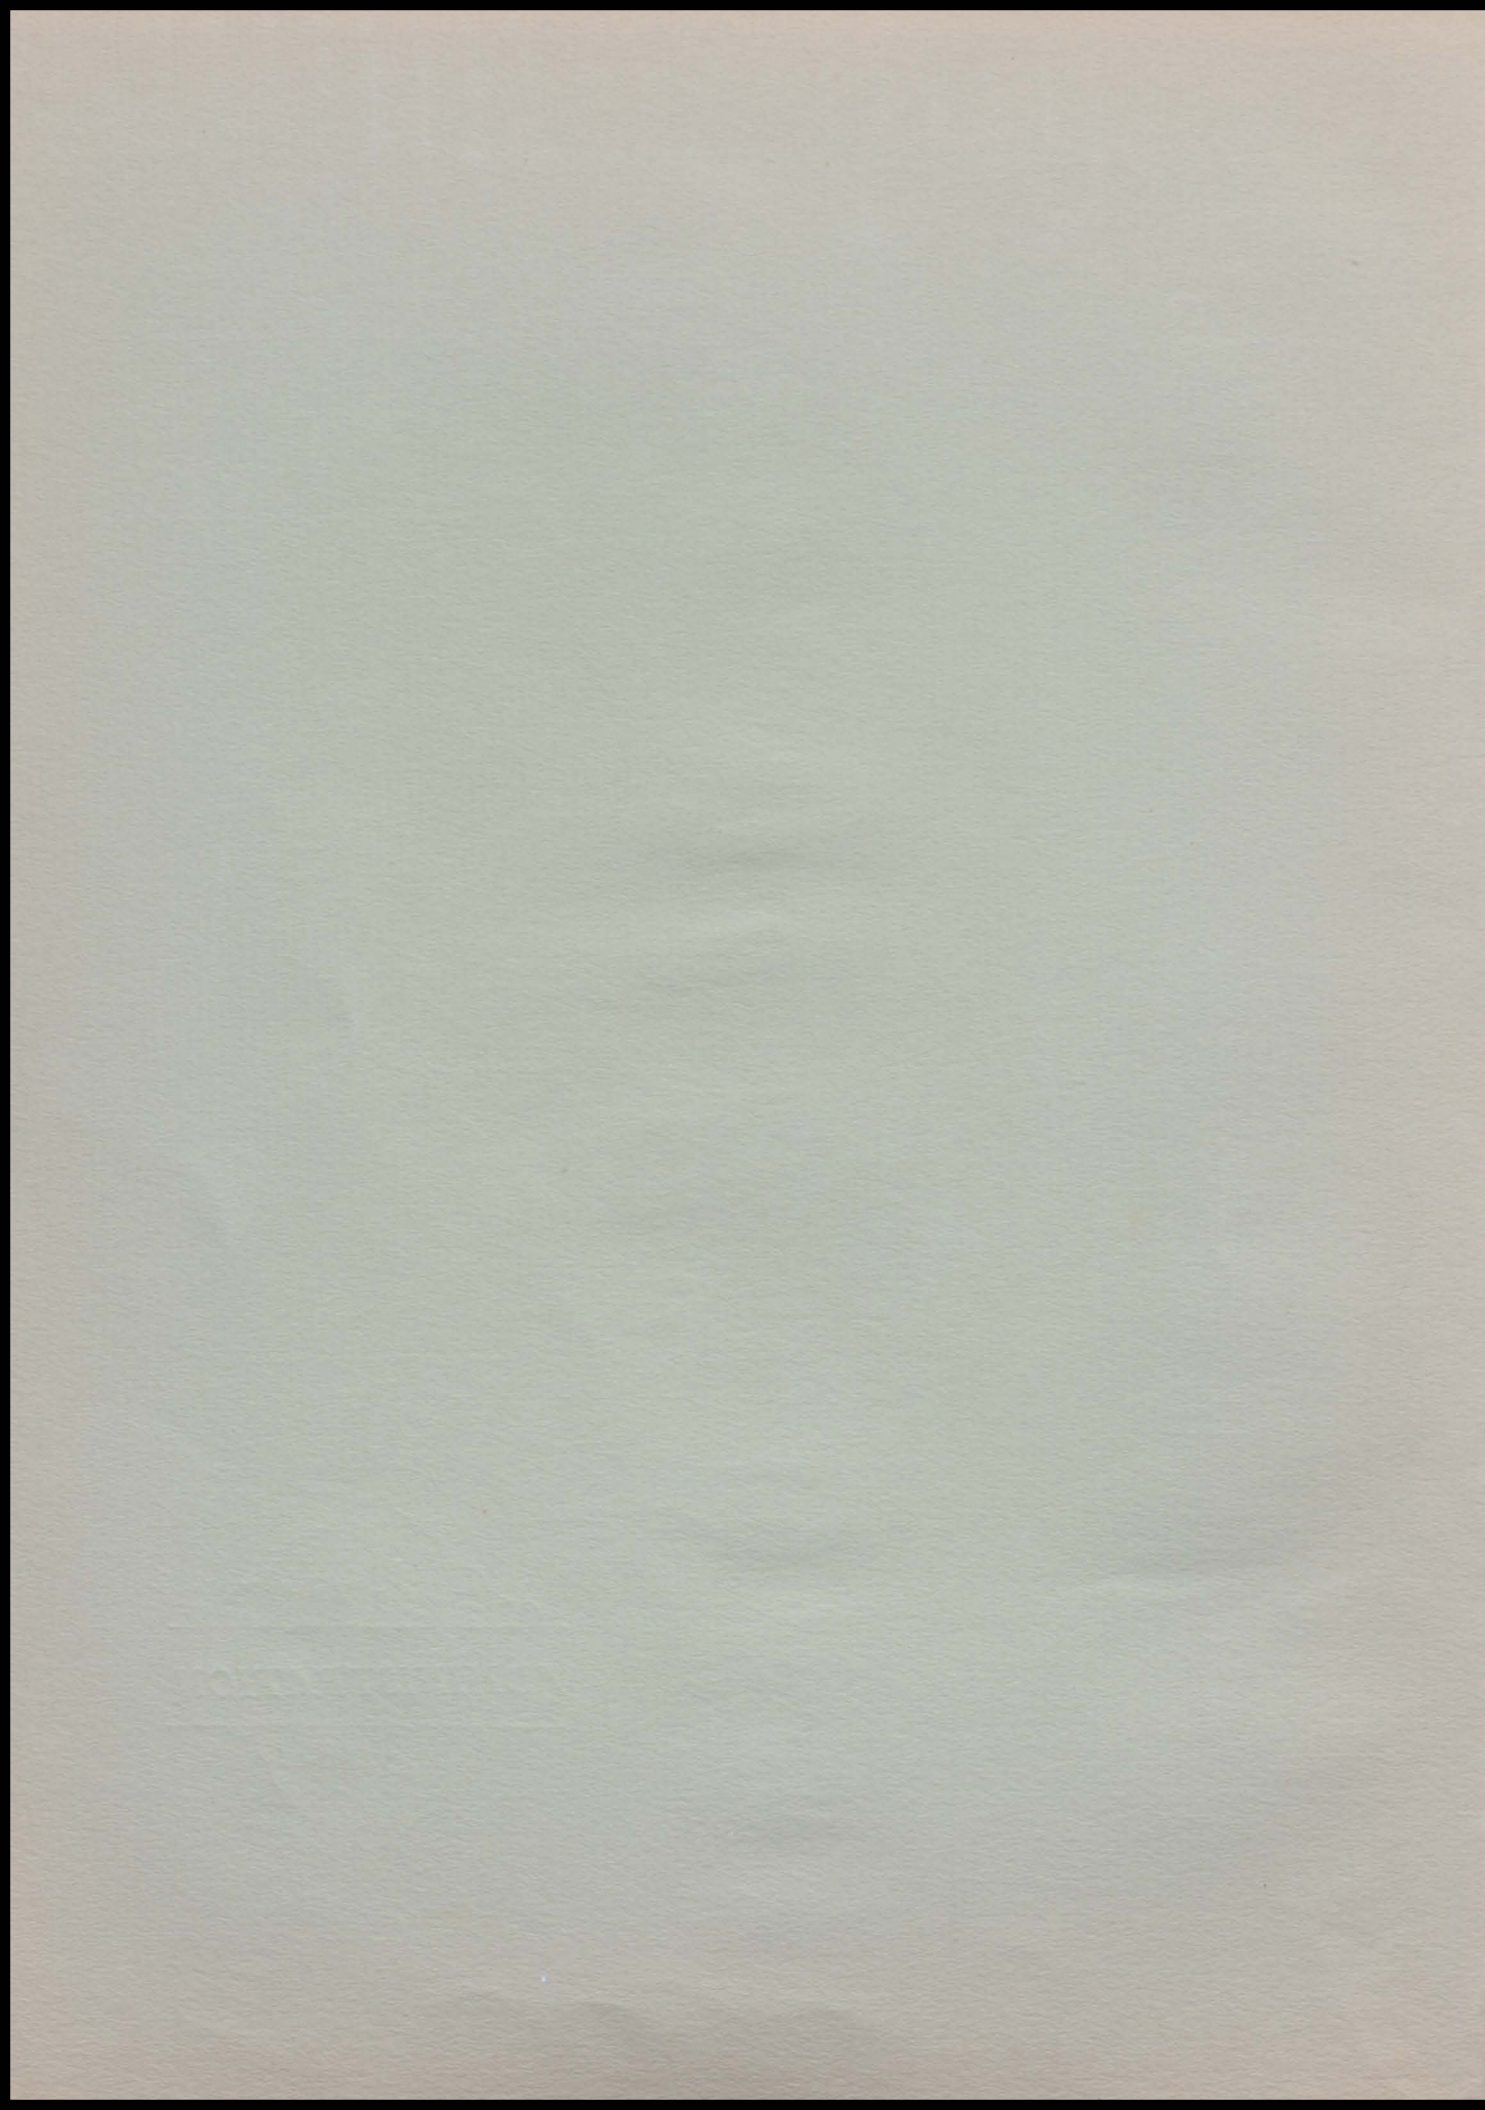

Superintendent of Carnegie Schools 1911-1926.

Board of Education

HE members of the Carnegie Board of Education believe that the various student activities play an important part in educational development. For this reason, they show at all times an appreciative interest in the serious efforts of the boys and girls. This interest is a great encouragement and a splendid inspiration, not only to the students delegated to manage these special activities, but to the student body as a whole. The members of the staff of the Voyager of 1932 have been greatly helped and encouraged in their work this year by the sympathetic interest and understanding of the Board of Education and take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation.

SWIMMING

NOTHER year's work in Carnegie High School has been completed. We have special reason to be gratified with the results accomplished during this term. In all activities, success was attended with greater difficulties than in previous years and therefore greater satisfaction came to all who were concerned. One of the difficulties encountered during the past year was the increased enrollment. Sixty-five more students belonged to our school than during the preceding year. This increased the teachers' work and responsibility but it was assumed by the faculty without any radical changes or reorganization. There was no increase in the number of teachers and therefore there was no added burden to the taxpayers. In justice to teachers it must be said that this added responsibility was borne without murmur. Another difficulty was the decreased financial ability of the individual student due to industrial and economic conditions which prevailed everywhere throughout the country.

In spite of all adversities the various activities of the school were carried on without financial deficit to their treasuries. Increased determination, energy, and sacrifice on the part of sponsors and students have brought pleasing results both educational and financial.

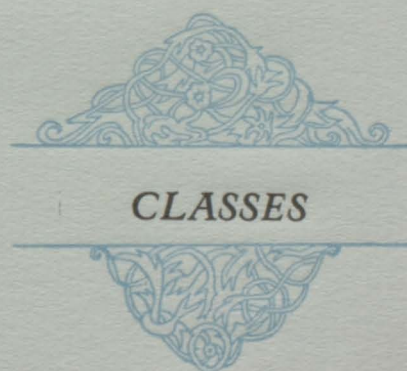

The morale of the school has been good and it must be our aim to keep it so. To the administration it has often appeared throughout the year that not only teachers but also students realized that just at this particular time more thought and effort must be expended that character shall not be lost to future citizens.

We take this opportunity to express our gratitude and appreciation to students, and townsmen, and to the staff and sponsor of this Annual for bringing this useful and beautiful volume into existence.

Class Poem

The Class of 1932
Now leaves this school of ours
And carries with it memories
Of many happy hours.

As Freshmen we were scared and green—
As Sophomores talked out loud—
As Juniors studied all the time—
As Seniors—stately, proud.

No minute of our four long years
Do we regret a bit,
The torch of knowledge which we held
For others still is lit.

Our Hop, our Prom, our Dance and all
Are now things of the past,
But happy mem'ries of them all
Are mem'ries that will last.

We've tried to play both fair and square—
Defeat them—one and all.
Our stars shone bright on all the teams,
Spring, winter, and in fall.

Now we will travel on afar
To corners of the earth,
And use our knowledge here and there
And spread real joy and mirth.

So here's to dear old C. H. S.
Whose mem'ries dear we hold,
And sadly leave its halls and go
Fine lives to try to mold.

—FORREST H. ALTER, JR., '32.

MARY JANE HAUDENSHIELD
1914—1931

"Our Lord has need of these flowerets gay,"
The Reaper said, and smiled;
"Dear tokens of the earth are they,
Where He was once a child.

"They shall bloom in fields of light,
Transplanted by my care,
And saints, upon their garments white,
These sacred blossoms wear."

The Junior Class

HREE years have passed since we entered Carnegie High School. Three fleeting years of mirth and misery. And here we are, putting the finishing touches to our career as Juniors and preparing to take our places as Seniors. When we were Freshies we came to school because we had to. As Sophs we were so bewildered that we didn't know what to do, so we continued to attend. But now, as our Junior year is drawing to a close, we are really beginning to enjoy it and regret that there is but one more year before we bid it good-bye.

In '29 we entered Carnegie High with an enrollment of more than two hundred light-headed Freshmen. During this term we worked hard on our studies, being represented but little in the activities of the school.

First Row—Brenneman, Whitecap, Vandevort, Black, Wuick, Steffenauer, Joel, Paolino, Bosco, McWilliams, Homa, Corba. Second Row—Washabaugh, Palastro, Galosky, Wilhoit, Stern, Nixon, Brown, Miller, Ludy, Morgan, Nonnenberg, Marowicz, Kearton, Twark, Pozzi, Thorpe, Kuten. Third Row—Myers, Fritsch, Modeck, Thorpe, Farber, Brubaker, Huffer, Weikel, Plappert, Patterson, Walton, Stotsky, Karabin, Klim. Fourth Row—McCue, Flippo, Erdodi, Pszeniczka, Aspinall, Wilk, Lisowski, Kiska. Fifth Row—Lowar, Turk, Armes, Karis, Mintz, Buchman, Brooks, Nonnenberg, Willard, Herman. Back Row—Stewart, Phillips, McManus, Seiler, Lublinsky, Solominsky, Midili, Pry.

The next year we began to take our places in music, dramatics and athletics. We held our first Literary on May 7th and followed it on May 29th by a successful Sophomore Hop.

As Juniors we began to make ourselves noticed. We were well represented in all the activities of the school. Many of our members filled places on the football, basketball and baseball teams. In basketball we made it evident that the only team that could defeat ours was the faculty. We also took our places in dramatics, debating, and music. On April first we displayed our appreciation of the Seniors at the Junior Prom—despite the depression.

We have left just one short year of the joys of Carnegie High and then the sadness of departure.

The Sophomore Class

The Sophomore Class was organized on December 11, when the following officers were elected:

President John Zuk

Vice President Norma Gray

Secretary Appalone Lafferty

Treasurer Bob Davies

At a later meeting the annual staff representatives were selected—Michael Wengryn, Literary Editor, and Martha Botsford, Business Manager.

On March 2, the girls showed their ability as actors in a play which was performed in honor of George Washington. The class was also very well represented in the gym exhibition held in March. During this year we had six players on the basketball squad, fourteen on the football squad and four on the baseball squad. As Freshmen we numbered 215 and this year's class enrollment is 177.

On May 20 the class held their annual Sophomore Hop. Everyone enjoyed a pleasant evening and appreciated the efforts of the Sophomores in making the last dance of the year a success.

The Freshman Class

ITH the opening of the school term, 291 members of the Freshman class began their high school career. As all other noviates, they were referred to by the upper classmen as "Freshies." It has always been a mystery to me why such a name should be applied to first year pupils, and it seemed particularly inappropriate to this class, as its members were anything but "fresh." They were quite awe-stricken at the prospect of what lay before them in the way of new studies, but were full of enthusiasm. With one accord they applied themselves not only to their work but to all activities.

Their interest in football was shown by the fact that six members of the class went out for the sport in the fall and sixteen in the spring. The Freshman class contributed six members to the Junior High Basketball Team.

On the staff of the Voyager Fred Sochor and Audrey Chilton represented the class of '35. In the purchase of annuals the Freshman class outnumbered every other class in the High School, but according to percentage was surpassed by the other classes.

For various reasons the number of members diminished during the term until by spring just 259 were enrolled.

The meeting for organization was held April 14 with James McDonald as temporary chairman. Balloting showed that the following officers had been elected:

President	Audrey Chilton
Vice President	James McDonald
Secretary	Dolores Stinner
Treasurer	Frank Trinkala

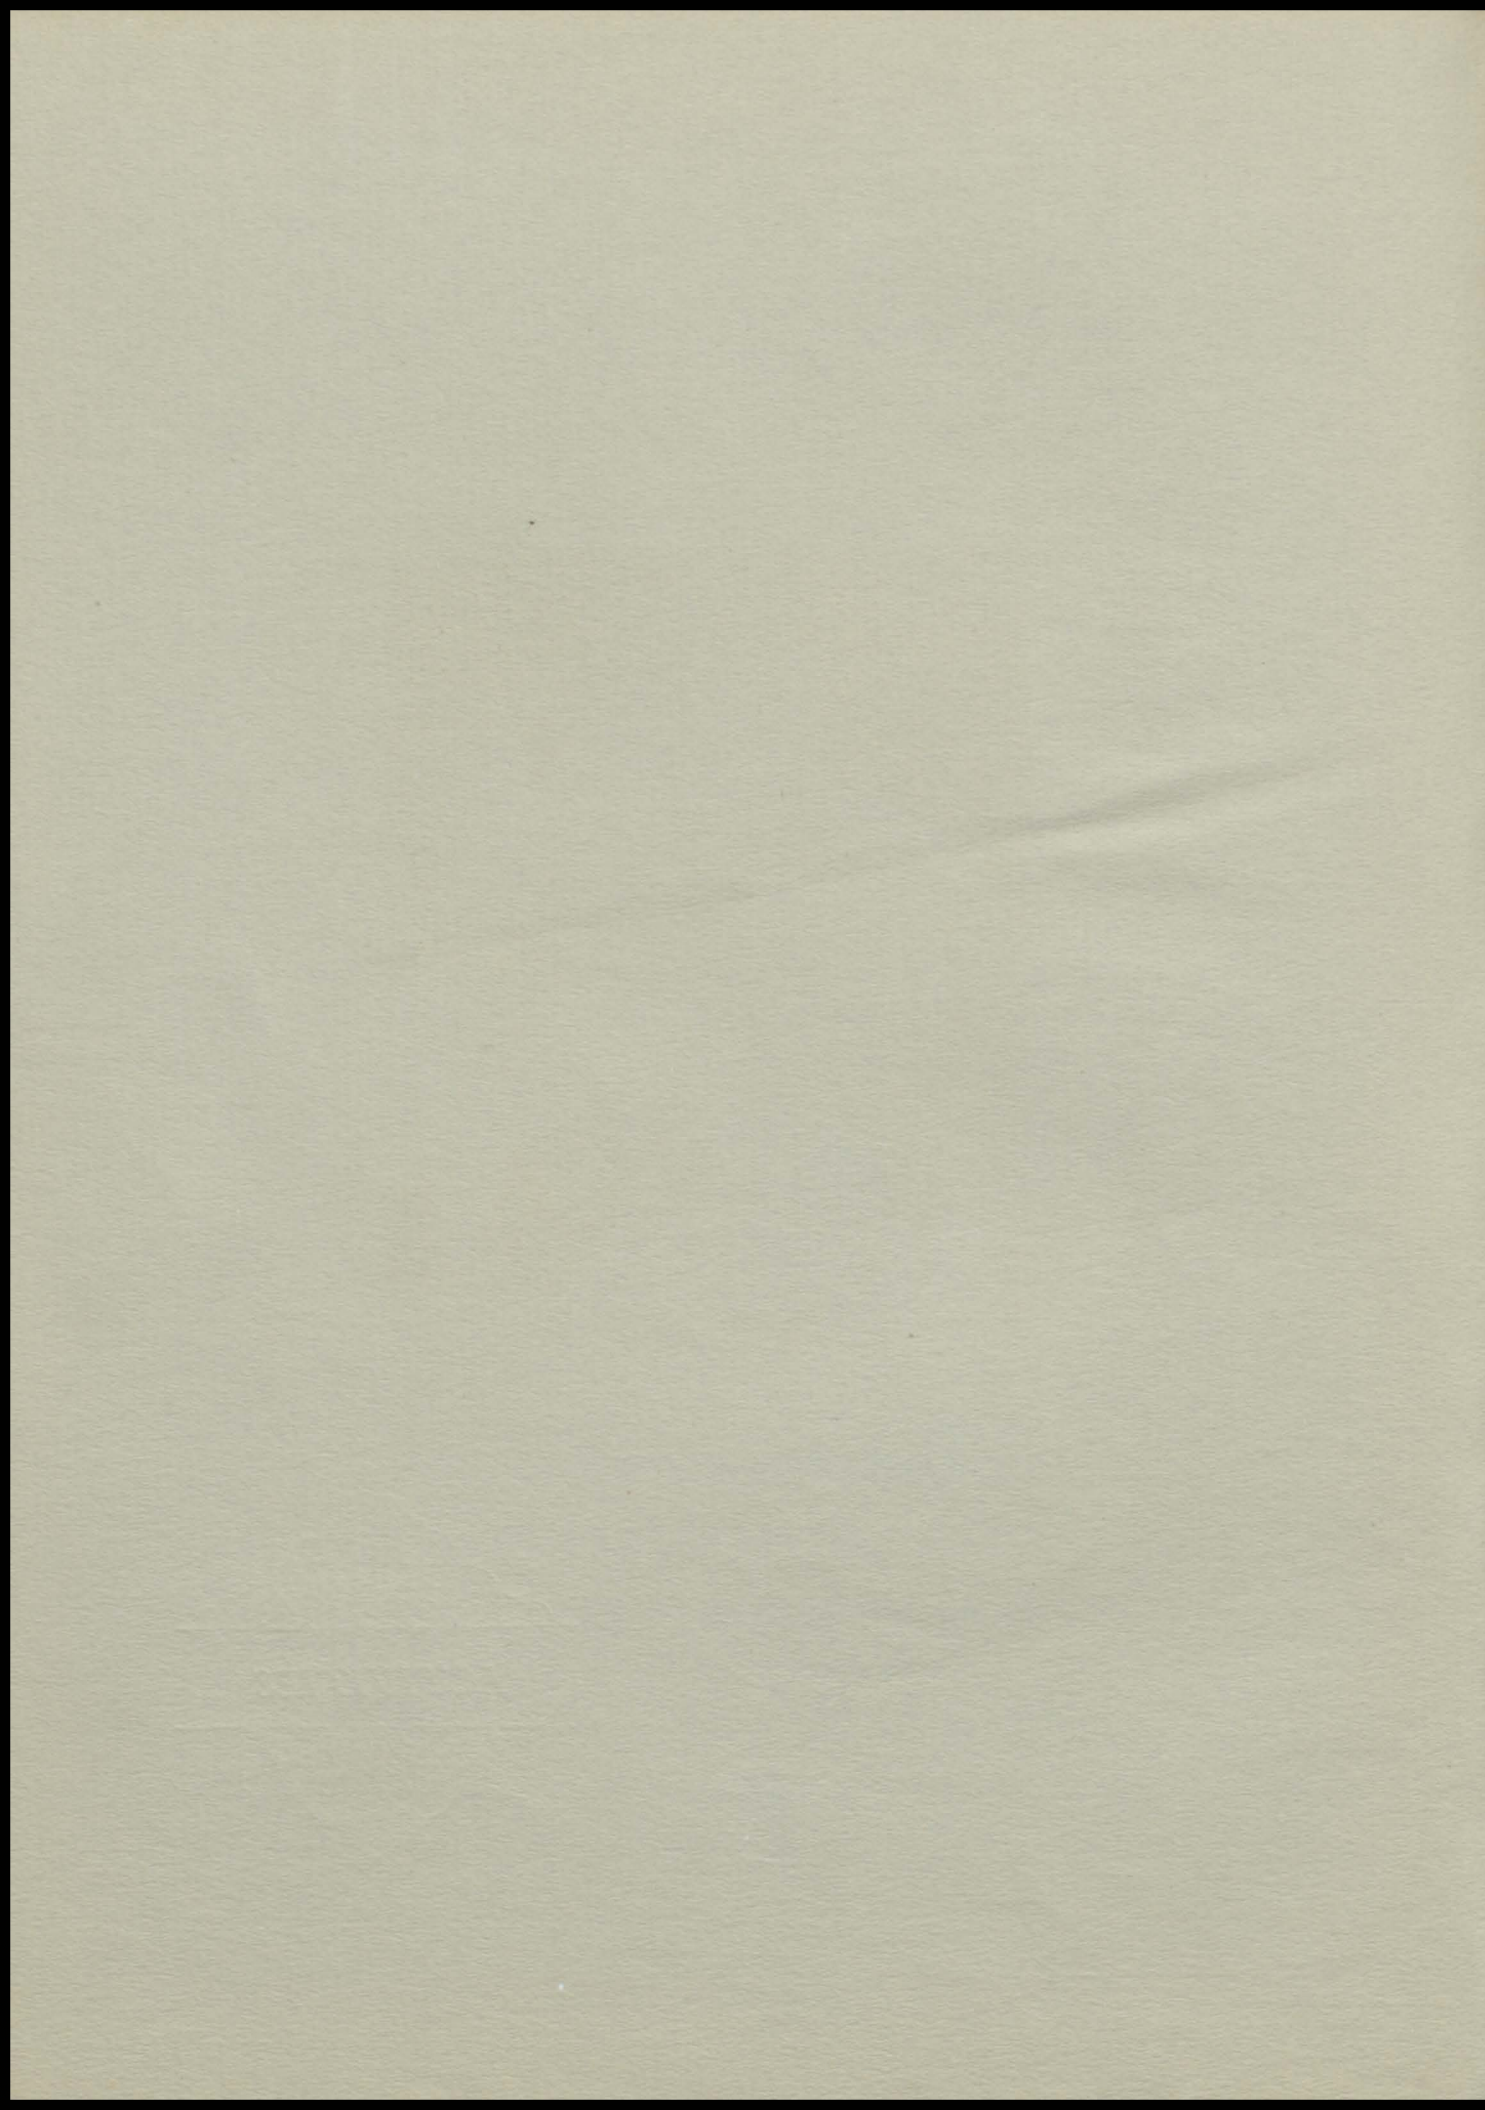

With much hard work, but great pleasure, the school term passed very quickly and now they are looking forward to the second step in their high school career.

The Glee Club

HE Glee Club, made up of boys from the Junior and Sophomore classes who sing well, is a thriving organization. This group, similar to the girls' G Clef Club, meets once a week to prepare musical selections, some of which are offered from time to time throughout the school year, others merely for personal pleasure. Most of their numbers are four parts, first Tenor, second Tenor, first Bass and second Bass.

These boys, together with the girls' G Clef Club, offered seasonable selections to the school at large on the day before Christmas, and patriotic selections at the George Washington Program in February. This year their finest and longest number was a group of spirituals sung at the Spring concert.

First Row—Pascoe, Holmes, Hines, Sherba, R. Bosco, Botsford, Freshwater, Scotti, Homa, L. Bosco.
Second Row—Edie, Paolino, Corba, Ludy, Barnum, Brush, Morelli, Modeck, Wilson, Briggs.

Sixth Row—Knouse, McCune, Aboosh, Bradwell, Lafferty, Prosek, Yourd, Graham.

G-Clef Club

HE G-Clef Club is composed of those girls of the Junior and Sophomore classes who read music at least a little and have the best singing voices. Usually their music is in three parts, first Soprano, second Soprano, and Alto. The club meets once a week to prepare various selections which are offered in school programs throughout the year.

At the Washington Bi-centennial exercises of the High School, held in February, several patriotic numbers were given with the Glee Club. At the Spring concert in May, an annual affair, a one-act operetta for girls entitled, "The Nifty Shop," was offered to an appreciative audience.

High School Orchestra

HIS year the Carnegie High School Orchestra was composed of forty-four members. Any student who plays an orchestral instrument even fairly well, is eligible for membership. Although one full period every week is the only time available for practice, the orchestra made many successful appearances during the school year. An outlet for prepared selections was furnished when the orchestra appeared at Literaries, the Senior Operetta, the annual Spring Concert of the music department, and several outside dramatic entertainments. The orchestra played before and between the acts of the Senior Operetta and at several plays at the Library.

High School Band

THE Carnegie High School Band, now in its third year, has made rapid progress which has been shown in its many public appearances. To the great delight of the members, uniforms were ready for the first football game last fall. The band played at all the home games and at several out-of-town games. It took part in the Hallowe'en parade and the dedication of the World War Monument on the Library grounds. Other engagements were at the Washington Bi-centennial program at Woodville, the George Washington program of the high school, and the Memorial Day parade. Seven members of the band entered in the spring contests. The Band Concert in June closed the year's activities.

IN the past few years the Senior class has been large enough to make a Choral Club possible. At the beginning of the year voice tests were held, the first indication of the revival of musical activity in the school, and fifty-two students were selected for membership. In spite of the fact that there can be only two short practices each week, the Choral, due to the cooperation of the members and the leader, mastered many selections in which they acquitted themselves favorably on the occasion of the Senior Literary Program, the George Washington Bi-centennial exercises, the music week concert, and commencement.

The Choral Club crowned the year's activity with the Senior Operetta offered in June.

Raymond Florence, Estella Hackius, Helen Lewellyn, Alexander Stafa, Letitia Paolino, Casper Casalin, Alice Mae Gambs, Louis Morelli, Irene Gwilliam, Homer Fry.

The Toreadors

light opera in two acts, The Toreadors, by Otis M. Carrington, was chosen as the operetta for this year's Senior Class. The wealthy Senor Dictorio is a great admirer of Toreadors and desires that his daughters, Juanita and Benita, marry the two greatest toreadors in Spain, Senores Swateo and Whackeo. Amusing complications arise when two beggars masquerade as the great Toreadors, but finally all ends happily for the father and his two daughters when Juan and Pablo, the daughters' lovers, are given permission to wed the girls.

Debating

ARNEGIE High School, for a second year, entered the field of inter-scholastic competition in debate, under the sponsorship of the Forensic League of Pennsylvania. The subject for debate among high schools throughout the United States for the school year 1931-1932 was, "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance." Each school's debating team is divided into two sides—an affirmative side upholding the resolution, and a negative side challenging the issue. This gives each school the opportunity of debating both sides of the question.

In a series of eight debates, Carnegie won sectional honors over McKees Rocks, South Fayette, and Bridgeville, losing finally to Homestead High School in semi-final debating for the county championship.

Due to the fact that Carnegie High School has no academic department devoted to public speaking and debating, a considerable amount of ability and effort was required on the part of the participants to offer suitable competition to several of their opponents. Carnegie may well be proud of this year's debaters who, though novices at the game, acquitted themselves in such a manner as to reflect credit on their school.

Letter awards were made to the following debaters at the conclusion of the contests: Stella Durkalska, Marjorie Huff, and Kenneth Houpp, speakers for the affirmative; and Martha Thurman, Jimmy Stewart, Alice Davidson, and Glenn Brenneman, negative speakers.

First Row—E. Moskowitz, Plappert, Taylor, Roeder, Miss Cochran, Smith, Casalin, King, Finegold, L. Paolino. Second Row—Czarnecky, Bertenthal, E. Paolino, S. Senior Commercial Club

NDER the sponsorship of Miss Cochran, the Senior Commercial Club came into existence in the fall of 1931. Six Juniors were admitted to membership. Committees prepared programs and social activities at which speeches and other entertainment were given by prominent and local entertainers. The surprising success of a Weiner Roast and a Hallowe'en Dance in October brought to the club the attention and respect of the faculty and student body. In an important meeting in December, the guest speaker, Mr. Darrell Martin, who brought Riggs and Moke to the meeting as a surprise, amused the audience of Seniors and the faculty. At another meeting in February, Dr. Wilson gave an interesting talk on "Modern Youth."

The peak of successful meetings, however, was reached in the guest night meeting of March 30. A beneficial address, given by Mr. Glasser, was the feature of an enjoyable program in which Casper Casalin was presented with an emblematic letter of Carnegie High School. A pleasing typewriting demonstration, exhibition, lunch and dancing completed the evening.

The members take this opportunity to thank Miss Cochran, whose tireless energy has made possible the success of the club which, it is hoped, will become a permanent organization of the school.

T. M. T. M. Club

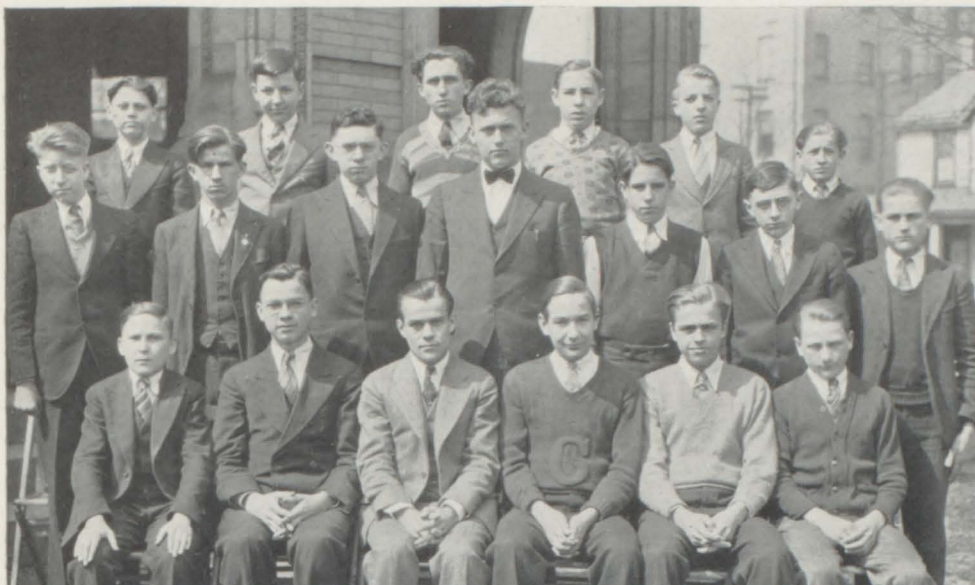

HE Home Economics Club is an organization composed of girls who have completed three years of Home Economics work. It was organized during the latter part of the 1931 school year by the girls of the 1934 class. The program for this year included regular meetings, a School Board dinner, a dance, a Fashion Show, a Mothers' Day Tea, and other wide-awake activities. The membership is limited to fifty, and each girl is a member of a committee where she can do some active work. The Interior Decoration Committee has planned curtains and drapes for our department, which the sewing committee constructed.

Our purpose as a club is to increase the social and intellectual outlook of every girl. We hope to give each girl a glimpse into the various professions for women and thus help her to select a work for which she is well fitted.

The Carnegie Stamp Club

AMONG the numerous activities of our school, we find this Stamp Club. The present organization had its beginning at the opening of the school term. Its purpose is to cultivate a growing interest among the students who collect postage stamps. Philately, or stamp collecting, is known as the "King of Hobbies." People of all ages and positions collect stamps. It is also called the "Hobby of Kings," because even some kings, such as the King of Egypt, the King of England, and ex-King Alphonso of Spain, have wonderful collections.

Postage stamps have different sizes, forms, designs, colors, and denominations. They are used to show that a fee has been paid to the government for carrying a letter or package. Stamps help to acquaint the people with the geography, the customs and the appearance of the inhabitants of the many countries of the world. They also commemorate important events, foremost inventions and leaders of men.

The United States first issued adhesive stamps in 1847. Our stamps have portraits of some of our presidents, such as Washington, Monroe, and Roosevelt; prominent persons, among whom are Benjamin Franklin, Nathan Hale and Martha Washington; and nine foreign leaders, including Columbus, Von Steuben and Pulaski. Famous voyages and flights, from Columbus' voyage to the flights of Lindbergh and the Graf Zeppelin, and scenes of national enterprises are all commemorated on stamps of the United States.

The Athletic Association

HE Athletic Association of the High School is maintained for the purpose of equipping and sponsoring all varsity sports, and supervising inter-class sports of various kinds. The money for the upkeep of the different sports, such as football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball, is obtained by selling season tickets to the students and patrons, holding Association dances and a gym exhibit, and selling confections at the games.

Mr. Knarr, Principal, Mr. Adams, Athletic Director and Coach, Mr. Schumacher, Coach, and Miss Corbett, Girls' Physical Director, are the faculty advisers for the Association.

The officers of the Association for the ensuing year are elected in June. The students who buy varsity season tickets are entitled to one vote in electing the officers.

Football Season 1931

HE Carnegie High football team of 1931, although its ranks were riddled with injuries throughout the season, was one which will remain in the minds of local rooters for years to come. Their determination and that indomitable never-say-die spirit continually won words of praise from their opponents. The new coach, Mr. Schumacher, came to Carnegie from the neighboring town of Bridgeville, where he had enjoyed remarkable success as he turned out one of the best teams ever produced in that locality. He displayed his ability here soon after his arrival when his warriors easily downed a powerful South Fayette eleven, 18-6.

Only five letter men responded to the call for practice in the first week of September. From these and the recruits was built a youthful, but powerful line and a "pony" backfield which caused opposing teams many moments of worry. With Homer Fry and Steve Klim as co-captains the team never lacked capable leadership.

Our traditional Crafton rivals were vanquished in the annual game which was played in our territory. This gives Carnegie a lead of one game in the race for the Cole Cup. The rules of the contest state that either team must win three tilts before taking actual possession of the trophy. Until the actual winner is determined the team that wins the annual game is entitled to hold the cup for a period of one year.

Five athletes will not return to the gridiron next season. These include Klim, Fry, Fitzmaurice, Phillips and Peluso. The guards—Pozzi, Peresman and Thorpe, the ends—Freshwater, Stotsky and Simon, will be in the game again next fall. A galaxy of backfield stars headed by Mike Medwig and including Froelich, Kapeluck and Armes will also return.

Top Row—Manager Lowar, Peluso, Kapeluck, Cole Cup, Picard, Phillips, Mr. Schumacher—Coach.
Backs—Armes, Bradley, Medwig, Froelich. Line—Stotsky, Fitzmaurice, Pozzi, Peresman, Co-captains Fry and Klim, Freshwater.

At the close of the season the Rotary Club of Carnegie gave a banquet in honor of the team. Mr. Adams awarded letters to 18 players during this delightful banquet. The lettermen were Stotsky, Simon, Klim, McFarland, Freshwater, J. Phillips, Fitzmaurice, Thorpe, Peresman, Pozzi, Fry, Bradley, Kapeluck, Peluso, Armes, Froelich, Medwig, Pretka, and manager, Lowar. By vote of the lettermen, Mike Medwig, diminutive fullback, was elected captain for next year. Also at this banquet the honor of being the most valuable player was bestowed by his team-mates on Homer Fry. He was presented with a beautiful trophy as a reward for that distinction.

Basketball 1931-32

THE best basketball team seen in Carnegie in the past five years was produced by Coach J. Arthur Adams in the 1931-32 season. Expecting five lettermen to report, our mentor was forced to build a team from only three veterans and several youngsters. Kapeluck, the leading scorer of the 1930-31 campaign, was injured in football to such an extent that he was not used at all. Stotsky, also a letterman of 1930-31, was available for only the last six games as a result of an injury.

Three non-league victories over Ben Avon, Alumni, and McDonald opened the season. In the first league game a close tilt was dropped to Mt. Lebanon by one point. Two victories were achieved over Bridgeville and Stowe before we were tripped by McKees Rocks. Following this the Orange and Black quintet garnered six consecutive triumphs including a non-league game with Langley and a victory over the sectional champions from Mt. Lebanon. Incidentally, Carnegie is the only team in Section IX of the W. P. I. A. L. that holds a victory over Henry Leucht's basketeers. The winning streak was snapped by Stowe and another reverse was administered by McKees Rocks before the Carnegie five found themselves again. To end such a brilliant season Carnegie won over Bridgeville, Dormont, and Crafton.

This closed the most successful campaign this school has enjoyed for many years. Fourteen games were placed on the right side of the ledger while only four games were lost. Although they did not win the section title, they pressed the leaders closely and managed to finish in a tie for second place.

All but two members of the team, Fitzmaurice and Klim, will be back next year. These include Kuten, Solominsky, Danziger, Flynn and Stotsky. Kapeluck will also be available.

Captain Dave Fitzmaurice was given a place on the All-Section IX team by virtue of his leadership and consistent performing. He also led his mates in scoring as he compiled a total of 105 points in the eighteen games, averaging nearly six points per game. Klim, stalwart guard, also earned a post on the All-Section IX team. He was a very cool athlete as may be attested in the records for foul shooting which show that he leads the team in that department, making 22 out of 36 charity tosses for an average of .611.

Letters were awarded to Fitzmaurice, Klim, Kuten, Solominsky, Flynn, Stotsky, Danzinger, and manager, Knarr.

C. J. H. S. Basketball

UNDER the tutelage of Donald Glossner, Carnegie Junior High added another successful basketball season to its list. With only one of last season's regulars returning, a better-than-average quintet was developed from the recruits who reported for practice. "Spike" Jones, captain, was the only veteran, and his mates were Lewis, Reese, Stockum, Morasca, and Swentkowsky. The youngsters copped 11 out of 14 contests. Five of their first eight games were played away from home, yet the decision was in their favor in every one of the eight tilts. Among their victims were Ingram, Mt. Lebanon, Pike, Dormont, and Robinson, which proves that their opposition was of a hardy caliber. All in all C. J. H. S. acquitted themselves nobly.

Girls' Honorary Varsity

HE Athletic Board this year has followed the policy of neighboring schools in dropping girls' varsity basketball from their curriculum. Since there were so few of our sectional rivals who would still continue with their girls' teams this year, it would be necessary to compete with teams outside the local territory. But in order that the girls should not be deprived of the opportunity of being members of a varsity basketball team, a system of selecting an honorary varsity has been inaugurated. It is the plan of the coach each year to name six girls, who, in her opinion, would be the lineup for that season, should any games be played. These girls who have been chosen, together with a manager, will receive letters at the close of each season.

As a nucleus for this year's selection, Miss Corbett had four regulars remaining from last year's varsity—Jane Booth, Wanda Sinsell, LaVerne Stievenart, and Helen King. These four girls, along with Janet Pascoe, and Mildred Kraeer, substitutes from last year, and Irma Castellani, manager, comprise this year's "honorary varsity."

Girls' Inter-Class Basketball

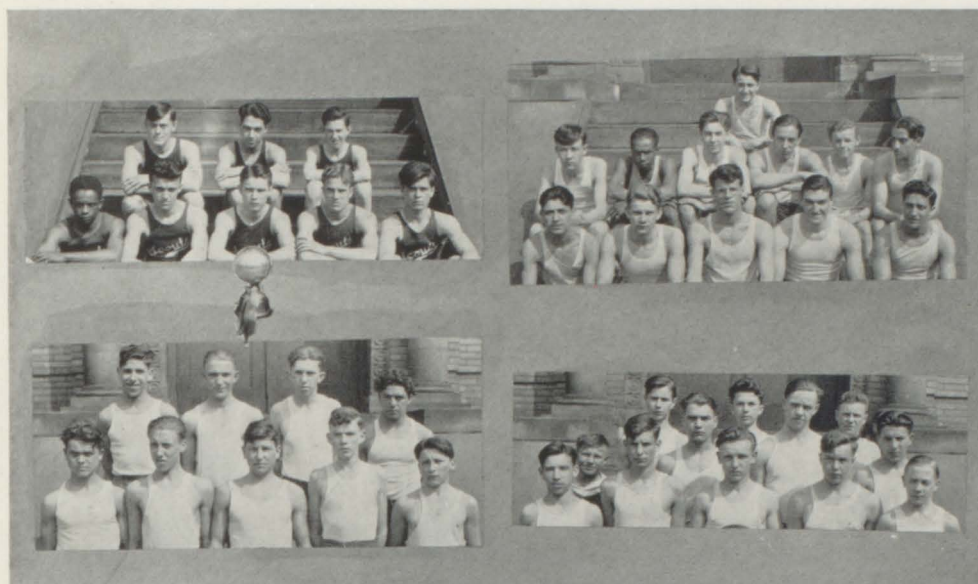

IRLS' Inter-Class Basketball proved to be very interesting this year, due to the fact that the teams acquired more experienced players after the abolishment of varsity basketball. This gave each team added confidence and as a result each team played better basketball. The Seniors kept a clean record for the fourth consecutive year, and thus again gained laurels for the Senior class. The Juniors finished in second place, the Sophomores in third, and the Freshmen had to be content with last place, although they played good basketball.

It is no more than fitting that we should add here a word of praise for the Seniors. In their four years of inter-class competition they have never failed to win everyone of their games. This is a record of which they can well be proud.

The standing in the league is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Seniors	6	0
Juniors	5	1
Sophomores	2	4
Freshmen	0	6

Inter-Class Basketball

TRADITION was upset in the past class basketball season as the Juniors, instead of the Seniors, won the championship. The race was very close with the upper-classmen being tied for first honors for many weeks. The Freshmen, of whom much had not been heard during the past campaigns, decided the winner of this year's trophy. With the Seniors and Juniors tied, a play-off game between these teams loomed. At this time the Freshmen stepped into the picture to trounce the Seniors and give the Juniors undisputed possession of the first place.

Frolich and Medwig were outstanding on the Junior team, while the Seniors placed their confidence in Joe Betz and "Jad" Peluso.

Inter-Class Volley Ball

HIS year marked the initial appearance of a girls' volley ball league in school athletics, but nevertheless much enthusiasm was shown by the contestants. Because of the limited time allotted to these games, only three contests were played by each of the four classes. The Seniors were successful in capturing all their tilts and were in turn crowned champions.

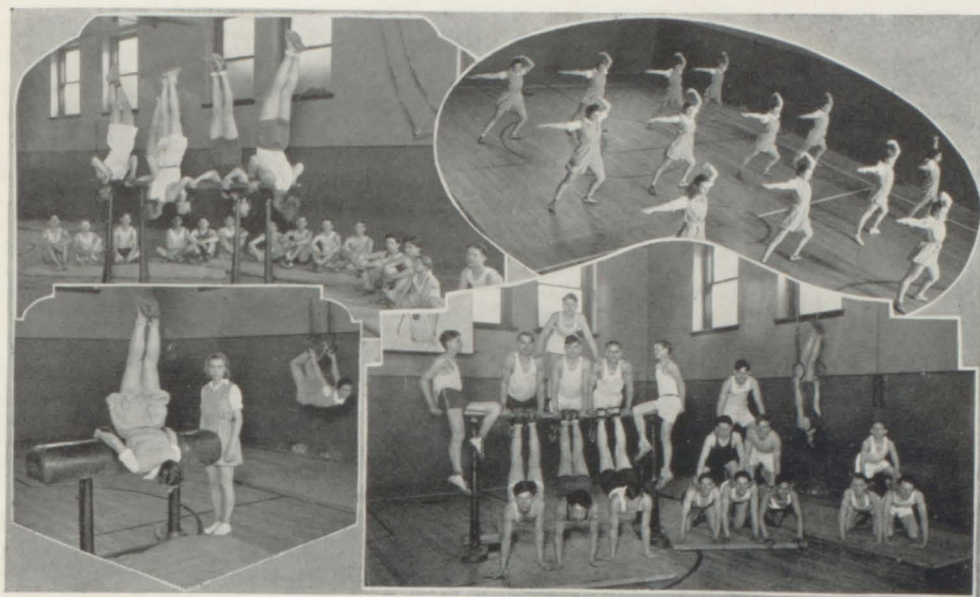

The Juniors were second in the race, followed by the Sophomores and the Freshmen. The following captains were named for their respective teams:

Seniors—Jane Booth

Juniors—Mildred Kraeer

Sophomores—Janet Brush

Freshmen—Marjorie Darnley

Gym Exhibit

ON March 16-17-18 of this year the first gym exhibit since 1926 was held in the High School Gymnasium. Since many people desired to see the exhibit, and all could not be accommodated at one exhibition, it was necessary to hold three performances. On the 16th and the 17th all students were admitted and on the 18th the parents were present. The gym was filled to capacity at each exhibition. About 150 boys and girls took part in this demonstration of physical education. The boys performed exercises on the parallel bars, vertical bars and rings and also did some tumbling. The girls, likewise, did exercises on the rings and horse and took part in the running high jump. Dances, such as the Virginia Reel, Gotland's Quadrille, and the Holling, were executed by the girls. The boys offered the audience pleasant amusement by taking part in a series of contests and relay races, including a Finger-hold Contest, a Drag-Out-of-the-Gap Contest, a Leap-Frog Relay, a Rope Climbing Relay and many others.

The purpose of the demonstration was to give parents the opportunity to view this phase of the work of the Health Education Department and to acquaint them with the efforts of the school authorities to encourage and aid their boys and girls in the development of strong and graceful bodies.

The boys were coached by Mr. Adams and the girls were under the supervision of Miss Corbett.

Baseball Season

THE 1932 C. H. S. baseball team was the most successful athletic aggregation ever to be turned out by Carnegie. With six letter men returning, Coach Adams molded a powerful line from these and the recruits which won eleven out of twelve games. The outfield and battery did not give much trouble, but many changes and shifts were tried in the infield before a winning combination was developed.

Two non league games were won by the Carnegie nine over Oakdale and Arnold. The Orange and Black also won seven out of eight league games to win the Section I title. These victories include two each over Dormont, Crafton and Stowe and one over McKees Rocks. The last named team gave Carnegie her only setback of the season.

Having taken Section 1, C. H. S. entered the W. P. I. A. L. playoffs. The first elimination game was played at Edgar Thompson Field in North Braddock with McKeesport, last year's W. P. I. A. L. champions. After playing two extra innings the locals won out, 4-3. In the finals, Carnegie met Ambridge at Forbes Field. Little opposition was encountered as the C. H. S. nine romped away with a 9-1 victory and the W. P. I. A. L. championship, the first to be achieved by any Carnegie athletic team.

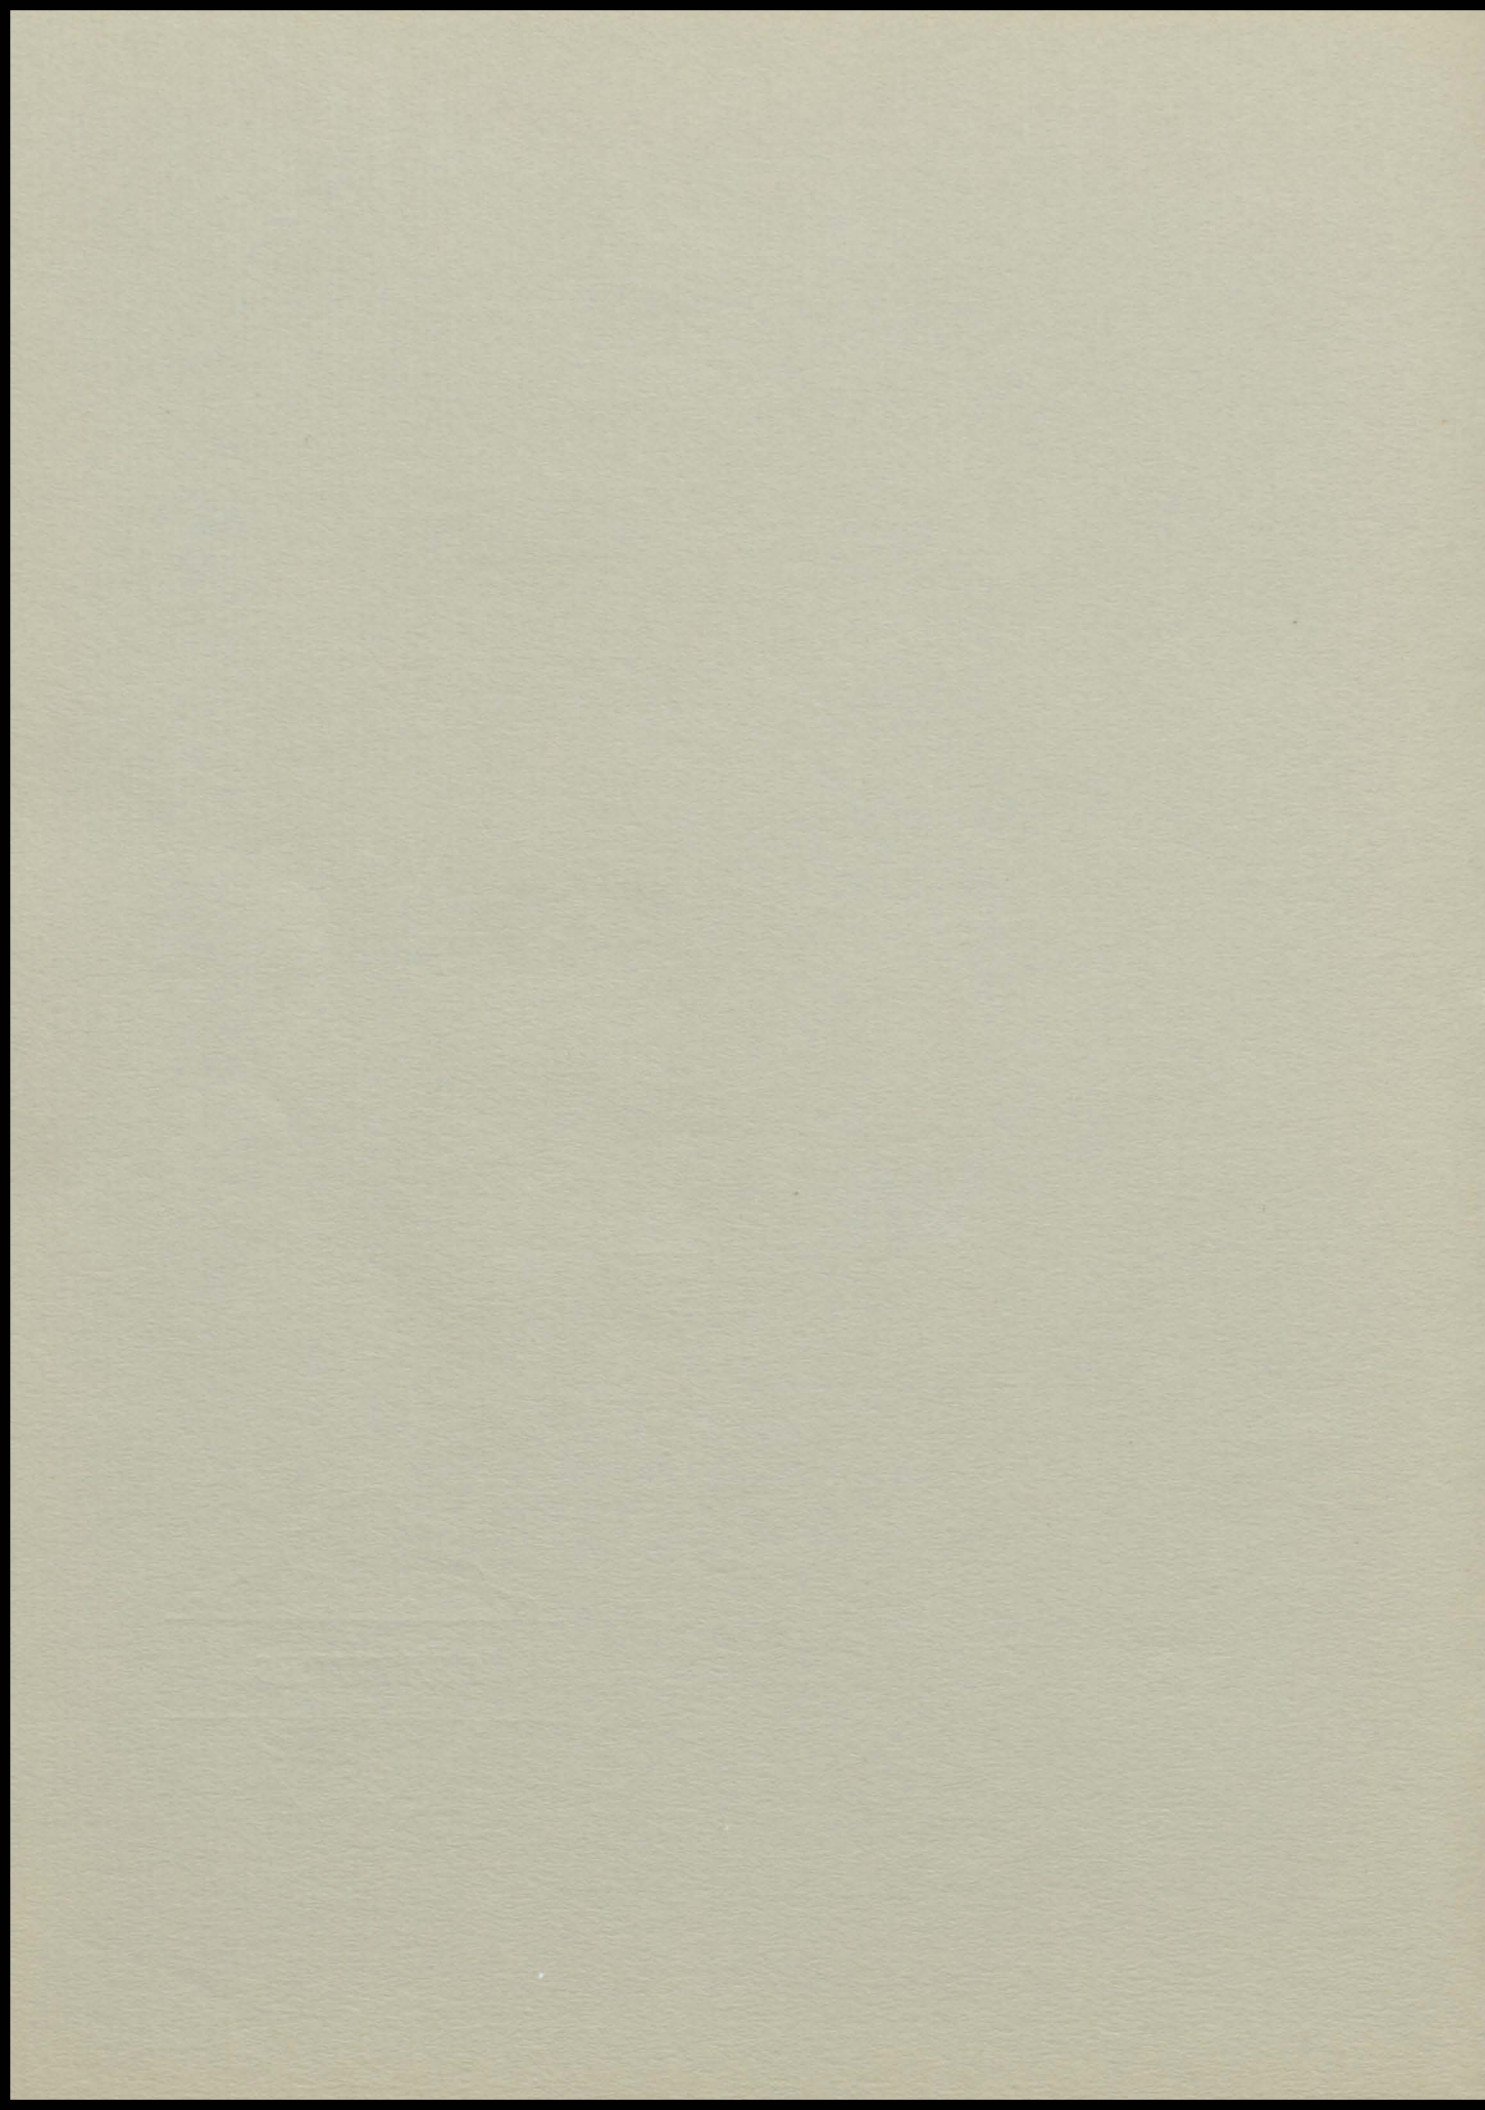

The personnel of the team included Mike Medwig, captain and catcher, Jones and Klim, pitchers, with the latter twirling both playoff games, Pawlik, W. Medwig, Stotsky and Freshwater, infielders, and Fitzmaurice, John Armes, Jimmy Armes, Jones, Pozzi, and Fritsch, outfielders. Fitzmaurice, John Armes, and Klim will be lost to the team for next year, but all the others will return. The lettermen are M. Medwig, Klim, Kuten, Pawlik, W. Medwig, Stotsky, Freshwater, Jones, Fitzmaurice, John Armes, and Manager Fry.

Senior Dance

This very important Senior activity was held at the Harding Gym on January 29, 1932. The gym was beautifully and patriotically decorated in red, white and blue. A portrait of George Washington, draped with flags, hung on the wall. The large crowd that attended danced merrily to the music of Bert Wiedenhamer's "Sylvanians." All the high school classes and the alumni were well represented. The dance ended at twelve o'clock and the Seniors went home pleased with the success of their dance.

Junior Prom

The Juniors deserve much credit! Not a better prom has ever honored a graduating class. This dance, held on the first of April, was indeed not an April Fool's dance. Red and white decorations changed the gym into a ballroom appropriate for the colorful gowns worn by the girls. In the middle of the room, above the heads of the dancers, crepe-paper streamers tied together held up a number of balloons. About eleven-thirty the decorations began to come down—and with them the balloons. Such a scramble! Everybody after a balloon! The orchestra which played the music for the dancers was Bert Wiedenhamer's "Sylvanians." The Seniors thank the Juniors for the happy evening they enjoyed.

Commercial Club Hallowe'en Dance

A 1931 Hallowe'en Dance was sponsored by the Commercial Club. It was held on October 30 at the Harding Gym. The gym was appropriately decorated in black and orange crepe paper and Hallowe'en lanterns. Jack-o-lanterns and cornstalks were placed here and there about the room. The decorations were ideal for a Hallowe'en Dance. The "Hot Eskimos" furnished the music. A novelty feature of the evening was fortune telling.

The T. M. T. M. Club Dance

The T. M. T. M. Club held their first dance at the Harding Gym. The date they decided on was December 4, 1931. The gym was prettily decorated with crepe paper, palms, and flowers. The lights were covered with red and yellow flowers, alternately. Tubby Flint's Orchestra furnished the music to which the gay crowd danced. At twelve o'clock the music stopped, the dance ended, and everyone went home satisfied with the evening's frolic. May the T. M. T. M. Club continue to have dances as successful as their first one.

Sophomore Hop

A very pleasant event on the social calendar of this school year was the Sophomore Hop. It was held at the Harding Gym on May 20, 1932. The decorations consisted of ferns and flowers in artistic arrangement and of yellow and lavender crepe paper. The music was furnished by Ballentyne's Orchestra. Congratulations, Sophomores, on the success of your first dance!

Senior Party

The defeated team in the magazine sale entertained the winning team on April 15, 1932, at the High School Gym. During the first part of the evening a one-act comedy entitled "Elmer" was presented. It was very comic and the actors performed very well. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the music of Charles Craig's orchestra. Delicious refreshments were served about eleven-thirty. Everyone was sorry when the hands of the clock pointed to twelve—the hour of departure.

Athletic Association Dances

During this school year the Athletic Association sponsored three dances.

The first one was held at the Harding Gym on October 23, 1931, the evening of the game with McKees Rocks. Although our football team was defeated, the spirit of the dance was by no means dampened.

The second of these dances was held on November 20, 1931, to close the football season and to celebrate the victory over Crafton.

The third and last A. A. dance was held on February 26, 1932. On the Tuesday preceding the dance, Carnegie had been victorious over Crafton in the final basketball game. This dance celebrated the victory over Crafton.

The musical feature of all these dances was the "Hot Eskimo" orchestra.

Senior Activities

Each Senior Class has had a series of activities at the end of the school year and the class of '32 was no exception. These events included the Class Banquet, the Baccalaureate Service, the Senior Picnic, and finally—Commencement.

Oh, Those Seniors!

The following are the results of a clean (unusual?) and carefully conducted election, in which no campaigning was done nor were any political cigars or other bribes given.

Mike Medwig, giving life of Samuel Johnson: "Samuel Johnson was born in very poor circumstances; he was very disgusted and joined the navy."

Washington, the father of our country, is two hundred years old this year.

Even if the teacher cannot say much for my French I can amuse my little brother with it.

Miss Lauble: "What is the value of 'pi'?"

Wilbert Nutbrown: "Cheeseborough's charge 10 cents a piece; 40 cents for a whole one."

* * * * *

Miss Lauble: "Nature has contributed a lot to our mathematics. Can you name one thing, Jack?"

Jack Lloyd: "Lions (lines) from Africa."

Homer Fry: "How do you like my new shirt, now that you've worn it all day?"
Louis Morelli: "Oh, it's all right, but the cuffs don't take ink very well!"

* * * * *

Mr. Sterret: "Raymond, what is drawing?"
Ray Florence: "It's thinking and marking around the thought with a pencil."

* * * * *

Senior: "What would you advise me to read after graduation?"
Miss Ling: "The 'help-wanted' ads."

* * * * *

Mr. Sterret: "Why were the middle ages called the 'Dark Ages'?"
Irene: "Because there were so many knights."

* * * * *

Dad: "What does this 60 on your report mean, John?"
John Williams: "Oh-er-that must—that must have been the temperature in the room where I took the test."

* * * * *

Tom: "What does 'Asbestos' mean on that curtain?"
Red: "Hush, don't show your ignorance. That's Latin for 'Welcome'."

* * * * *

Ray Florence: "I work with my head."
Miss Burig: "Yes, and so does a woodpecker."

* * * * *

Mr. Sterrett: "No sane person can understand this map."
John Fekula: "Let me see it!"

* * * * *

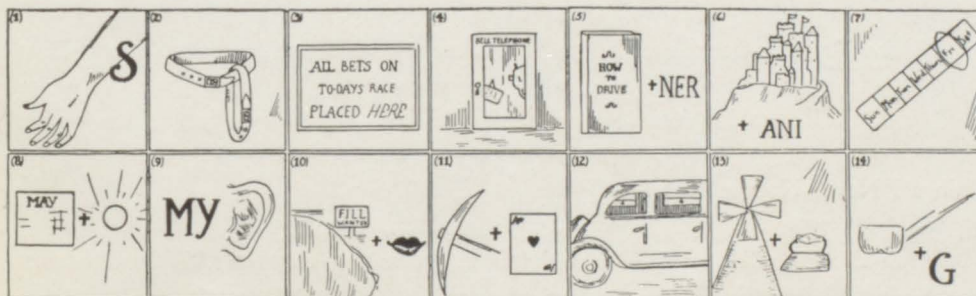

Alex Stafa (during a quarrel): "If I were you I would have more sense."
Chas. Bock: "Of course you would."

* * * * *

Miss Milliren: "What are you studying, Tom?"
Tom B.: "Trigonometry."
Miss Milliren: "It must be a noisy study!"

* * * * *

Marj. (in Cicero class): "Is Tom taking Virgil?"
Nancy (innocently): "Do you mean to the Prom?"

Efficiency Tests

Every year each boy enrolled for gymnasium work takes a physical efficiency test. This year the tests were given during May and consisted of the running high jump, the standing broad jump, chinning, and basketball goals. More than 250 boys vied with one another for high scoring honors. Out of a possible 400 points, the boys whose pictures appear here made the following scores: Enrietti and Stafa, Seniors, tied with 390; Hoyland, Junior, 376; Wilkowsky, Sophomore, 378; Mitchell, Freshman, 364.

Importance of the Norman Conquest—October 1931

The Norman Conquest was the first written document of the Bible. It was brought about in 1066.

John, the tyrant, was forced to sign it.

By it England was brought back into the thicket of Continental politics.

Things I Never Noodle Now!—

That R. C. Lee could play "basketball" like a professional.

That Dick McGarvey was arrested for impersonating an officer. He walked into Cheesebrough's and helped himself to a hamburger.

In recognition of their work as cheer leaders at the various athletic contests, letters were awarded to Jane Booth and Raymond Florence, Seniors. The other classes were represented by Frances Young, a Junior; Martha Botsford, Bertha Graham, Ollie Burdis, Thomas Gullette, Sophomores; and William Shaw, a Freshman.

Miss Fry: "What is the ending of the dative case?"
Just then someone pinched John Williams and he yelled, "Oh."
Miss Fry: "Correct!"

Miss Milliren: "John, do you have a cud of gum in your mouth?"
John Corter (after taking it out): "No, ma'am!"

* * * * *

Alfred Meyer saw a thermometer one day and said to his dad:
"Daddy, how can you tell time on one of those clocks?"

* * * * *

Mr. Lee: "Name all the different kinds of wood materials used in the construction of buildings."
John Picard: "Cement, iron, steel, and bricks."

* * * * *

Miss Rinehart: "Wilbert, give me a sentence with 'acute'."
Freshie: "Jack has a cute girl friend."

* * * * *

Miss Milliren (in English class): "From the first century on, people have tried to get money. Why even today all they do is grab money and right now they are grabbing—"

Mr. Knarr (interrupting Miss Milliren): "Here's your check." And did she grab it! Oh!

* * * * *

Letitia: "How did Achilles die?"
Fry: "From want of breath, I suppose."

Mary Jane C. : "Gee, I forgot the mistletoe."

Dave: "We don't need it."

Mary Jane (hesitatingly): "We will when mother and dad are around."

* * * * *

Miss Milliren (in English class): "What is a wit?"

Faint Whisper: "Two half-wits!"

* * * * *

English Teacher: "Nicholas, give a sentence having a compound subject and a compound predicate."

Nick: "The cat and dog ran and ran."

* * * * *

Study Hall Teacher: "George, stop your talking."

George Johnson: "I'm not talking to anyone."

Teacher: "Then, stop talking to yourself!"

* * * * *

Miss Rinehart: "John, name the four races of man."

Freshman: "The 500-mile auto race, the 6-day bicycle race, the Kentucky derby, and the National Air Race."

Life Is Just a Bowl of Berries!

And they got plenty of them—

Bill Dornenberg arriving at the debate after it was over.

Ray "Dog Catcher" Florence chasing a dog around the football field.

Glenn Brenneman calling Freshmen from a Senior class for pictures.

John Fekula calling for members of the T. M. T. M. Club from Mr. Schumacher's class of boys.

While decorating the Harding Gym for the Prom, Martha Thurman was sent for a left-hand monkey wrench but didn't succeed in getting one. Better luck next time!

Nick Kobzareff didn't know who Clark Gable was and couldn't find his name in an encyclopedia. Poor kid!

Who Says This?

Now back when I was your age—

Put that cud in the basket!

Parlez en francais, s'il vous plait.

You Senior girls stop talking and get out of the hall.

Those who do not have their lessons prepared may sit in the back of the room.

Did you bring your excuse?

You Seniors make more noise than the Freshmen.

Don't waste the paper. Be sure to fill both sides.

Let's get in class, Brother.

Now, this won't do at all.

Are you asking me, or telling me?

Don't be silly!

Go down to Mr. Knarr!

Well, that's all right!

We'll write for the rest of the period.

All right, you fellows back there get quiet!

Hold up three chairs!

You tenors will either keep quiet or go upstairs.
