PRESENTING THE

1949 VOYAGER

PUBLISHED BY

The Senior Class

OF

CARNEGIE, PENNSYLVANIA

FOREWORD

In this, the twenty-fifth volume of the VOYAGER, we, the yearbook staff, tried to put together all the things that would remind you of the '49 school year. We hope that as you read through the book personal memories will be recalled. The VOYAGER could not have been published without the co-operation of the student body and the untiring efforts of our faculty advisors.

NORMAN L. GLASSER

Norman L. Glasser

These few words of greeting come to you at a time when the weak are saying that it is useless to work and plan because of the confusion, doubt, and uncertainty about us. They are neglecting the opportunities of today because of the uncertainties of tomorrow. Let me remind you that you have today. It is yours with all its richness of opportunity. However dark the prospect may be, you shall meet life better, if you have fulfilled the present to the best of your ability. Today is still yours along with the obligation to live it to the full.

I congratulate you, the members of the Class of 1949, on your attainment during the four years you have been with us. You have done your work well and have provided inspiration and leadership for the many activities of the school. I appreciate the service you have rendered and assure you of my continued interest in your welfare.

For twenty-five consecutive years the VOYAGER has given us a cross-section of the life of the school. The current issue pictures the work and the activities of the school intimately and delightfully, and it will be enthusiastically received by students and faculty. I wish to express my appreciation to the staff, the sponsor, and the class.

N. L. G.

Norman L. Glasser

The Voyager Staff and sponsor have given the school a valuable service in publishing a yearbook this year against great odds. Lower school enrollment has increased the unit cost of production, as have steadily increasing labor and material costs. A number of high schools discontinued their yearbooks during the war and have not yet resumed publication. Carnegie High School can therefore shake hands with itself that it has preserved this school activity. The enthusiastic support of the student body over the years has been most encouraging, and the staff is assured that the pupils and faculty will willingly pay the increased price which is necessary to keep the good ship Voyager afloat. This volume sails forth carrying the tradition of its years of service, its path lighted from within by the confidence of a service well performed.

Want a date set aside for your dance? Members to be approved for certain clubs? Just have your representative mention it at the Student-Faculty meetings.

The membership of this organization consists of club representatives and sponsors. Each year they work on some plan that will be beneficial to the entire school.

This year they have discussed the new window blinds for study hall, and plan to make use of the motion picture projector which the school board obtained for us.

We believe, though, that the Student-Faculty could accomplish even more if they had a 100% attendance at every meeting.

FRESHMEN

1946 "EXTRA! EXTRA! CLASS OF '49 COMMITS SELVES TO INEVITABLE! THEY WERE FRESHMEN ONCE!" Yes, 'way back in 1945, we started our high school career. In the beginning we were a little hesitant about where to report, but found that we weren't the only ones. That year room numbers had been changed and freshmen were assigned to report rooms, rather than to Study Hall, as was done in the previous years. Big event was the election of class officers. President, George Oliver; vice president, Richard Ferri; treasurer, Steve Gordon; secretary, Patricia Ludwig.

1947 Sophomores, and we had come to like the place. Mr. Stockum became head coach of our team (football). The event was the Big Top Caper sponsored by our class. Officers were: president, Henry Langer; vice president, Arthur Midili; treasurer, Robert Walker; secretary, Shirley Keisling.

1948 In the middle of the junior year those that were eligible received their class rings and now, more than ever the top was in sight. Our class president, John Rapp, introduced orange and black football and basketball purses, which were sold to obtain money for our treasury. Besides this, a skating party was held on March 5. These two projects helped to finance the Junior Prom. Music was furnished by the Melodiers.

1949 The Moonlight Sonata, sponsored by the Senior Class, was the first big event of the year, our final year in school. With this came history term papers (as usual), senior pictures (that can't be me!), no lectures, and a big headache concerning the senior play. This was due to the fact that Miss Brandon, sponsor of the Dramateur Club, had resigned the previous year . . . Also, a new class for the commercial seniors was begun. Known as office practice, its purpose is to instruct students in the fundamentals of various office machines. . . . Suddenly it was time for the events which precede commencement night. The Senior Banquet was a gala affair with a party held at the Harding Gym later on in the evening. . . . Our serious side came to light at commencement exercises. For the first time a Carnegie class graduated inside its own little white fence. It was nice knowing the teachers and students of Carnegie High, and naturally we'll miss all the activities that go with high school life. Now, however, we go out to take our places in the world of tomorrow.

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

The Magazine Campaign got under way on September 15 and lasted until the fifteenth of November. The seniors were divided alphabetically into two groups. The Orange team consisted of the seniors whose last names began with A and went to L; the Black team included those from L to the end of the alphabet. The Black team chose Nellie Okrutny for their captain and Pollie Walk for business manager. Don Abraham headed the Orange team, and Shirley Keisling acted as their business manager. At the finish of the campaign the Orange team was declared the winner by a slight margin.

Total magazine sales amounted to $1702.57. At a Christmas program held by the seniors an award of $5.00 was presented to Emily Kostas, high salesman from the Orange team, and $2.50 was given to the second high salesman, Ruth Double, also a member of the Orange team.

FRESHMEN NEWS

Well, here we are in high school, the place where every girl and boy, that is, almost every boy and girl, hopes to be in their happy teens. High school is fun. The first few days we found it difficult to find rooms and follow our schedules. The first two weeks of school we were a little shy, but we soon got over that and got right into our stride. We like most to stand out in the halls and talk to our classmates, but when the bell rings we hurry to our rooms.

Canteen, what fun! It's one thing we never had the privilege of attending. The boys were a little shy, but they soon got over that.

Many of us have gone out for some activity. The girls play basketball, and volleyball, and also bowl or hike. The boys, well, you've guessed it, have gone out for basketball and football. Kenneth (Tiny) Kerr and Kenneth Silcock were the two star freshman football players on the team.

We Frosh do not love tests, but we like them enough to study for them. (What's the answer to No. 3 in algebra?) The first six weeks of school we were afraid of tests, but now, well, we just make the best of them—anyway we try.

May is the month of final exams and Kennywood, the day we consider wonderful, but all of us do not think it is wonderful if we are home with an ache and have to explain when we return to school.

All in all we love high school and we are looking forward to being seniors some day.

VOYAGER

The VOYAGER STAFF from the viewpoint of the Junior Editor:

From my position as Junior Editor I can tell you my views of the STAFF. Anyone that is not acquainted with our activities might not realize the value of considering every small detail. It's not long after the beginning of the year that someone says that it is time to begin taking pictures, since the weather is still nice. That's when the work begins! Everyone in every picture must be identified and then the names checked and double checked so that all the spellings are correct. The picture editor really gets a chance to show his skill in mounting the pictures and getting them cut to proper size.

STAFF

Not only the pictures are given special attention but also the write-ups. These have to be written for every club and sport, and every word has to be corrected. This all takes a lot of time but then one fine day someone realizes that April is getting pretty close at hand. Maybe that's why you've noticed all the hustle and bustle in the hall around about the middle of March!

Even though there is a lot of work connected with putting out a yearbook, it still is fun. I can't wait until I'm the editor.

SEE STAFF

This year is the thirteenth birthday of the See—one thirteen, however, that has definitely proved not to be unlucky, for this thirteenth See Staff has provided for the high school a volume which is above par. Under the capable editor, Louise Falcioni, and the See's efficient sponsor, Miss Mason, many long hours each month are spent preparing the See for publication. Many individuals contribute to making the See such a success. Little could be accomplished without the ambition and energy of the reporters, artists, mechanical operators, typists, and members of the editorial staff. The motto of the See, "What the See doesn't see isn't worth seeing," pretty well covers the subject.

Mr. Burkett

Mr. Burkett certainly does a good job of sponsoring the Camera Club. Everyone who is interested in any branch of photography wants to belong, but only the ones with the highest ratings are admitted. The applicants are voted on by the members, who take into consideration their sincerity in wanting to belong and their genuine interest in photography.

After the voting is over, the membership list is made and the new members notified. That's when they can begin to worry; it will soon be time for initiation. While the old members are planning the initiation, Mr. Burkett is getting his famous electric shock into tiptop condition. Ask any member.

With a lot of fun mixed in, the members of the Camera Club are very fortunate to learn all the fundamentals of photography plus the new methods which are developed.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

One of the many clubs in the high school is the Commercial Club, composed of all girls carrying three commercial subjects or more. You are admitted into the club when a sophomore if you have an average of 85% and admitted when a junior if your average is 80%. The only requirement, when joining in your senior year, is that you are carrying three commercial subjects.

The Club's purpose is to train the girls for their future work in the business field. Each meeting is carefully planned to secure a good speaker or some other form of entertainment that each girl may benefit by. This year we have had several businessmen of Carnegie, speak at the meetings, among whom were Mr. Carl Westerman and Mr. David E. Gray.

The favorite time of the year for Commercial Club members is the preparation for their annual dance. During this time, cooperation is achieved among the group. The success of the club is due mainly to the assistance of Miss Boyle, the sponsor of the club. Her understanding and untiring aid prove to be a great asset to the club.

The Drama Club is completing its ninth year as one of the most important clubs in the school. Even though it is one of the older organizations, there is certainly no lack of enthusiasm when tryouts are announced. Only a limited number of those who are considered most talented in this field are admitted.

This year in the absence of a regular sponsor (Miss Brandon left at the close of the term), the annual Yuletide Frolic was sponsored by Miss Hepler. The gym was decorated in the traditional red and green. At one end was a huge Christmas tree and fireplace which really set the mood for the surprise of the evening when, at intermission, Mr. Sawhill appeared as Santa Claus.

Even though the club has been temporarily inactive without a sponsor, all the members are doing their best, and everyone with any acting, directing, or producing ability is anxious to become a member.

THE GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Girls only is the chief motto for the Girls' Athletic Association. Many of the girls are eager to become members, and go through the usual red tape in joining. Then comes the day: G. A. A. Initiation Tonight is posted on the blackboards throughout the school. The girls recall the horrors of the years before and remain in agony for the rest of the day. Twenty new members were taken into the club this year. There are many activities in sports such as the bowling leagues and the hiking trips. Ah, yes, the hiking trips! The toil of the last mile back home and the resounding, please pass the rubbing alcohol is still vividly inscribed on our minds.

The club also had a skating party and a mother-daughter banquet. Both were very successful. The G. A. A. is sponsored by Miss Mitchell. She is always on hand to give her aid and advice whenever it is needed. The club is a combination of wonderful girls and a really keen sponsor.

HI-Y

This year the Hi-Y once again completed a very successful year under the capable leadership of Mr. Sawhill. Nine members of our club represented the Carnegie Hi-Y at the Officers' Training Camp, Laurel Ridge, in September. In October we held our annual dance, and it again was a complete success. During the Christmas vacation the Hi-Y entered a team in the Y. M. C. A. basketball tournaments, but were defeated by Schenley in the first round of play. New members were accepted after mid-term tests, and all were greatly impressed by the formality of the introduction into the club.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Members of the National Honor Society, a nation-wide organization, are chosen not only for scholarship, but also on the basis of character, leadership, and service. Membership is limited to five percent of the junior class, and fifteen percent of the senior class. At the beginning of the second semester new members are selected by a faculty vote.

Dr. Rynearson, a former principal of Fifth Avenue High School, founded the national organization in 1921. Fifteen years later in 1930 the Carnegie chapter was organized.

Parents and friends of the members are invited to an impressive formal induction held each year in June. This is a solemn candle-light ceremony in which the privileges and obligations are impressed not only upon the members but their friends as well. The high school chapter always enjoys entertaining the eighth grade honor students at a tea given during Commencement Week.

RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club was organized in 1947 for the purpose of instructing all those who are interested in the proper use of a gun. Mr. Robb, the sponsor, really has done a lot in securing funds to build a floor over the Harding School swimming pool, which the club uses for its practice range. Targets were bought and set up here and the federal government supplied them with guns and ammunition.

Each year this club has a social event to help finance the purchase of new equipment. This year they held a dance on February 11 called The Sweetheart Swing.

At the meetings this group learns about the parts of a gun and also about many of the safety precautions which everyone needs to know. This organization, although it is comparatively new in this school, has gone far to promote its purpose.

TRI-HI-Y

The Tri-Hi-Y, one of the youngest organizations of C. H. S., is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Sawhill, a capable and well liked leader. The first event of the year is the annual Hi-Y—Tri-Hi-Y Convocation program, which is held at the Trinity Cathedral.

Monthly meetings with various programs of great interest are planned throughout the year. Raising money for the World Youth Fund is one of the greatest achievements of the year. The club sponsors a dance to which the entire student body is invited; the Crowning of the May Queen is the main attraction for the evening.

Members of the Tri-Hi-Y are the American youth who are searching for large goals, and the motto that they practice is: Pure Thoughts; Pure Words; Pure Deeds.

Sponsor—Mrs. Sawhill

The pin is a small triangle with "Tri-Hi-Y" in the corners and a torch inscribed in a circle in the center. The triangle represents the entire personality: mind, spirit, and body. The circle indicates the completeness of Christian life; the torch, the mission expressed in the club purpose—"to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character."

VARSITY "C"

This organization is perhaps better known among the boys who participate in one of the various sports of Carnegie High. Only those boys who have earned a letter in one of the sports are permitted to join. It takes a lot of hard work to earn one of these letters, so any member of this club can well be proud.

The banquet which the club had was something for the boys to remember. This year Mr. Giannangelo, as head coach of the football team, assumed the sponsorship of the club.

THE BAND

The Carnegie Band plays an important part in our school life. It takes part in the pep meetings, the Senior Play, and the Spring Concert. Sometime in April, the band has its own concert, featuring the Swing Band in the second part of the program. The Swing band specializes in popular music. The ensemble, which features classical music, takes part in the Spring Concert. The different bands are really good, and Mr. Walter H. Cameron, our director, deserves the credit.

CHOIR

The choir is the largest of the choral groups, and has Eila Caldwell as the accompanist. It specializes in four-part music and is made up mostly of juniors and seniors who have had a year or more experience with the Glee Club or G-Clef. In the Spring Concert it is the main feature so far as the choral groups are concerned. The choir also accepts invitations to sing in churches or at community sings and is very much in demand. All students vie for a place in the choir, and those who make the grade have real talent and can be proud.

First Row: Reel, Anusewicz, Kanoza, Hall, Camaioni, Caldwell, Uzar, Gibbs, Dunlap, Perlman, Casciato, Bajoras

G-CLEF

Girls who have the desire and the ability to sing make up the G-Clef. Under the conscientious guidance of Miss Snodgrass, they put forth their greatest effort in mastering their numbers during the year. This year the G-Clef has elected as president of the organization Louise Falcioni. Without the G-Clef the Spring Concert would not be complete.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club is an all-boy chorus composed of tenors, baritones, and basses. The music is mostly three-and four-part harmony. This group provides experience for boys wishing to join the Choir later. Everyone can well remember their part in the Christmas program.

TRIPLE TRIO

Those nine lovely lassies are at it again. Dressed in the new look, they provide entertainment for the local clubs of Carnegie, besides participating in the regular school activities. This year the honor of belonging to the Triple Trio goes to Eleanor Patross, Marcella Baux, Margaret Scott, Joan Worgan, Eila Caldwell, Louise Missonak, Pat Stuart, Dolores Saporito, and Marion Zbalishen.

First Row: Saporito, Baux, Scott, Zbalishen

Second Row: Missonak, Worgan, Caldwell, Stuart, Patross

First Row: Snyder, Marucci, McMurray, Salvatore

Second Row: Byron, Moore, Midili, Knepper

DOUBLE QUARTET

The Double Quartet consists of eight junior and senior boys who specialize in real barber shop harmony. Art Snyder and Francis Marucci take the first tenor parts; the two redheads Bob Byron and Bob Moore, the second tenor. Art Midili and Travis McMurray sing baritone in the Crosby style, while Dominic Salvatore and Jim Knepper get those low notes. Their accompanist is Arlene Bogdon.

THE PLAY

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," based on actual events described in the book of the same name, relates the problems of two late teenagers, Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, as they travel to Europe via steamer in 1923.

Not only is it the first time both have traveled to Europe, but it is also the first time both have been allowed to travel alone. With the added thrill of emancipation from their clucking mothers the girls anticipate an enjoyable crossing, particularly after meeting two young medical students from Harvard who are also vacationing abroad.

Complications begin when Cornelia and Emily try to rid themselves of the practical, but unattractive safety pockets with which their mothers had presented them as an added precaution. Somehow the much sought after stow-away on ship becomes involved, and fate makes the imaginative Emily believe she has killed the man.

This problem is solved in time for the girls to enjoy a little shipboard romance before the boat docks, but the spell is broken when Cornelia comes down with the measles. How to get Cornelia past the French health inspector is the next predicament. With the wild resourcefulness of youth, another obstacle is overcome, and the girls finally arrive in Paris.

The chief attraction in Paris for Cornelia is the famous French actor, Monsieur de la Croix, from whom she aspires to take lessons. This egotistic opportunist almost ruins Cornelia's lofty ambitions to become an actress, but fate happily reverses his thoughtless, selfish words. In Paris the vulnerable Cornelia again is afflicted—this time with bedbugs. Tottering plans are saved in the usual fantastic and entertaining manner.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

First Row: Giannangelo, Mitchell, Ludwig, Lee

The very capable and efficient group which takes care of all the athletics in Carnegie High School is known as the Athletic Association. The faculty representation includes the coaches of the various sports, and the students are represented by the presidents of the G. A. A. and the Varsity "C". Mr. Adams, acting as the athletic director of the school, is the head of this organization.

Some of the duties which keep the Athletic Association on its toes are planning all the games and matches, arranging for the officials, purchasing the equipment, and providing transportation for the players.

Hats off to the members this year for the grand job they have done. Think what it would be like without sports listed among our extra-curricular activities, and we can all really be thankful that we have such a fine organization.

CHEERLEADERS

Our seven lively cheerleaders are the competent leaders of that vigorous cheering done by us students of C. H. S. Later in the spring comes the big moment of anxiety, when the choosing of new cheerleaders to replace the graduating seniors is the topic of all. The piercing heat of the summer never prevents their faithful practice, which has obvious results. The senior cheerleaders are: Arlene Bogdon (Head Cheerleader), Marcella Baux, Louise Falcioni, and Barbara Uram. The remaining three members are Virginia Hamilton, Margie Hubacher, and Carole Everly.

FOOTBALL

The games this year proved worth watching. With a completely modern field, our home games were held at night. Those lights did more than just light up the field; they gave more people the chance to attend the games. This added support put real spirit into our boys, and they went out on the field with determination to do their very best. We also acquired a new club house and a loud speaker system. Though not the best, this last has improved during the season. Winning three and tying one has been the best record in the last three years. Under the direction of our coach, Mr. Giannangelo, and his assistant, Mr. Stockum, every opposing team really had a job on its hands. Our coach, our team, and our field have been the talk of the town this season.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Volleyball and basketball are the two favorite sports in which girls participate. During the first few weeks of school the girls put most of their interest into volleyball. From each class there are a number of girls who play exceptionally well. These usually make up the different class teams. The girls choose their own captains. The games are played in the gym, and each class has their rooting section. As the semester closes, so does volleyball but the girls look forward to the next semester and basketball. In each class the girls who have been chosen to play are divided into two separate teams, the orange team and the black team. These teams play against each other and also compete with the teams from the other classes. As you can plainly see, a Carnegie High's girl's life includes just the right amount of athletics.

SNAPSHOT COMMITTEE

The Snapshot Committee is only two years old, but already it is becoming very important. It is part of the Voyager staff, and its main purpose is getting the informal shots which you see in the yearbook. The members take a lot of pictures to be turned in, but only the clearest ones with the best content are used.

It is almost always possible to see some member of this committee with a camera up to his eye or slung over his shoulder. So, be on the look-out and maybe you'll get snapped too.

FRIENDS

Friendship is defined as one being attached to another by esteem, respect, and affection. It is one of the most important things in the world, and without it, life is not complete.

During our years in Carnegie High, we all have made many new friends. We have studied together in classes, crammed for exams, practiced for our class play, not only for the good of the class, but also for a feeling of personal satisfaction. Many of us have come to know our teachers personally, and they have proved themselves faithful and trustworthy as friends by acting as advisors for all of our undertakings.

There is nothing better to live for than a friendship that lasts through the years. When high school days are over, friends are separated. Some go to college, some to work, and others enter the matrimonial world. They are scattered far and wide. Never again is the class completely united. There are some that you may never see again, but they are never forgotten. There are always a few, however, that remain close and get together to talk over old memories.

After graduation, as we travel onward in life, we shall make new contacts and meet new people. However, all of us are eagerly looking forward to what the future holds for each one, but nevertheless, as is so well expressed by Barton Rees Pogues' "Mixed Emotions", we are sorry to leave old friends behind.

Glad and sorry,
Sorry and glad,
So glad we are sorry,
And so sorry we're mad;
Glad for commencement and school at an end,
Sorry to part with each precious friend;
Glad that exams are out of the way,
Sorry we can't give another class play;
Glad that some teachers can't frown at us now,
Sorry to miss their corrections somehow;
Glad for the teachers who smiled at our stunts,
Sorry if ever we worried them once;
Glad for advice we remember so well,
Sorry we didn't quite learn how to spell;
Glad for vacation, and no lessons at all,
Sorry the school bell won't call us this fall;
Glad and sorry,
Sorry and glad,
So glad we are sorry,
And so sorry we're mad!

THE LOG BOOK OF VOYAGER 1948-1949

September

7. The doors of good old C. H. S. were unlocked so that everyone might rush (?) in to start off the new year. Mr. Giannangelo was the only addition to the faculty, and what an addition! Just look at our football team. 10. The football season off to a good start by defeating South Fayette 7-0 on Bridgeville's field. 11. Canteen opened up with a fine crowd. 17. Bridgeville beat us by one point, 20-19. Although we lost, it was a good initiation for the new lights with a crowd of not only the loyal boosters from C. H. S. but also many townspeople. 20. The Magazine campaign started with a bang. 24. Our boys beat McKees Rocks at home 26-7.

October

1. The weather was slightly damp and Clark beat us on their own field 9-6. 4-5. The Seniors' pictures were filmed for posterity. 8. Our fellows hit Stowe on their field 19-13. 15. Cecil took this game on our field 19-12. 16. Canteen held "Foot Ball" crowning Joan Everly and Ed Krasousky as king and queen. 21-22-25. Six weeks exams—ooooh! 22. All tied up with Midland 6-6. 29. Dormont overpowered us 13-6.

November

2. First report cards. Seems like no time at all since we started in. 5. The last football game with our rival, Crafton. They outscored us by eight points 27-19, but we had a swell season. 11. Armistice Day, first vacation of the year. 19. The Moonlight Sonata Ball of the Senior Class was a huge social success. 24. School dismissed early for Thanksgiving holidays. 29. Back to school.

December

2. Basketball season opened with the Tartans defeating South Fayette 41-38. 7. Home game with McDonald. We won 31-24. 10. The Drama Club's Yuletide Frolic. Everyone who didn't see Mr. Sawhill as Santa really missed something. 10. Basketball game at Bridgeville gave us another victory 38-35. 13. Our first defeat of the season. Findlay Township over Carnegie 42-35. 17. Bridgeville showed us they couldn't be put down so easily. They won by a score of 45-31. 21. Our big game with Clark put them on top 44-37. 22. The beginning of the Christmas season really started when school was dismissed early.

January

3. Back to school after a wonderful vacation. 4. McKees Rocks defeated us in a close game 30-29. 4. Wrestling season opened with a defeat by Washington. 7. Another victory to our credit. We beat Peters Township on our floor 52-47. Also, the first wrestling victory of the season. The grapplers took Shaler 29-20. 11. Wrestled Chartiers at home. We lost 36-14. Canonsburg basketball game. They went home the victors, 57-26. 14. We overwhelmed Burgettstown 53-38. 18. Another close score—Stowe beat us 55-54. We wrestled Dormont at home and defeated them 30-17. 20. Our matmen went to Burgettstown and returned the victors 30-25. 21. Coraopolis home basketball game. We won 50-35. 25. Varsity at Crafton, defeated 62-39. Though they lost, the wrestlers had a wonderful night; they were victorious over North Fayette 41-5. 28. Clark home basketball game. C. H. S. lost 42-39. Matmen went to Dormont at 3:15 and won 26-17. 27-28-31. Another headache! Mid-year exams.

February

1. McKees Rocks basketball game. We swamped them 62-28. Our muscle-men wrestled Chartiers and won 29-22. 4. Wrestlers on top of West View 33-20. 8. Defeated by Canonsburg five 62-40. 9. Wrestled North Fayette away. We won 35-15. 10-11-14. Senior play tryouts. 11. C. H. S. over Burgettstown away 43-41. The Sweet-heart Swing sponsored by the Rifle Club fitted the mood. Valentine's Day is coming. 14. Wrestled Burgettstown at home 3:30. We were victorious 37-14. 15. Senior play practice started with Emily Kostas, Barbara Uram, Joe Fereday, and Howard Johnson as the leads. Downed Stowe 52-36. 18. Wrestled at West View; we won 31-14. Lost to Coraopolis away 54-47. 22. Closed the basketball season with a loss to Crafton, 39-34. 25. The Commercial Club's Cherry Ball was a hit. They had Sandy Wyse's band. 28. Wrestling seasoned closed with our matmen downed by Shaler 34-14.

March

11. Junior class skating party at Sports Haven. Hope you didn't take too many spills. 18. Canteen held a sock dance. No one was permitted on the floor with shoes. 25. The great day! The senior class presented their play, "OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY".

April

1. Canteen's anniversary. There was an orchestra and free refreshments. 8. Band concert scheduled but it was postponed. 14. School dismissed early for the Easter holidays. 15. Deadline for the VOYAGER. 19. Back to school. 26. Band concert. It was well done. 29. The day of all days. The Junior prom with decorations of lavender and white.

May

6. Spring concert. Everyone did his best to make it a success. 13. The Tri-Hi-Y May queen dance. 20. Elementary concert. 25. Kennywood—school picnic. Everyone looks forward to this event and this year was no exception. 27-31-1-2. Final exams for the seniors.

June

3. Honor Society Induction. 5. Baccalaureate Sunday. 7. Senior Banquet. 8. That day all seniors waited for, Commencement Day. 10. Last day of school.

CLASS PROPHECY

Ten years hence the class of '49 takes a cross country tour and meets some of their old classmates.

We reach the airport at seven a. m., just in time to catch our plane. The dispatcher, Bob Walker, has made the last call. As we enter the field, we see Don Windomaker adjusting the field lights, because the morning is quite foggy. Ed Krasousky and Walter Sherba have finished the refueling job and, as we approach the plane, our air hostess, Eleanor Patross, prepares to make us comfortable. The motors are humming and we feel a bit tense, but have full confidence in our pilot, Radar Kensinger. Before we know it, we are flying high above the ground, and as we look out of our windows, the McCready farm appears like a small patch.

The first stop is Chicago. The executives on board, Robert Sembrat, George Oliver, and Edward Langer and their secretaries, Amelia Homa, Theresa Sanso, and Dorothy Johns, are staying in Chicago to attend an important conference.

Since repairs are being made on our plane, we spend a few days sight-seeing. We decide to go to a concert the first evening and hear the famous Carnegie Quartet, Art Snyder, Francis Marucci, Bob Byron, and Art Midili. We also hear an opera sung by Marcella Baux and Kay Komoroski. Included in the program is a solo by John Rapp on the trombone. The finale is Pat Ludwig's native dance.

Our plane is to be ready the following evening, so we spend the night at the Phil Troiani Hotel. We have breakfast at the Chicago branch of the K&K Waffle Shop, and with each order of waffles we receive a free bridge lesson by Emily Kostas. Our plane is finally ready and we continue our trip. The next stop is Denver, Colorado.

It is National Education Week, so we visit the elementary schools. One of the teachers, Miss Joan Everly, guides us around the school, and we attend a health lecture given by the school nurse, JoAnn Bevilacqua. We spend only one day in Denver, but before we leave, we stop at the Jack Hines Exclusive Sweater Shop to purchase some of his famous styled sweaters.

We're off again, this time for Hollywood. We are going to spend some time sight-seeing here. One of our old school mates, Shirley Keisling, has asked us to spend a week at her country home. She plans a party to get us acquainted with some of Hollywood's well-known celebrities. The night of the party arrives and all the girls swoon at the entrance of that matinee idol, Don Barker. At the height of the party, Mary Jane Slackta entertains us with one of her famous monologues. The rest of the entertainment is provided by Joan Worgan, who sings a solo, and Arlene Bogdon, playing one of her famous piano compositions. The last day that we are to stay in California is spent at a swimming party given by the famous radio news commentator, Don Snyder, in honor of the great aquatic star, Marie Grandinetta.

We decided to travel back to New York by bus. Dick Ferri, our bus driver, informs us that our first stop east of California will be New Orleans. We are just in time for the Mardi Gras.

CLASS PROPHECY

As we watch the pageantry, many familiar faces appear to us. In the band are James Gatts playing the drum, and Bob Hindman tooting his horn. On one of the floats we see Nellie Okrutny presented as the Queen of Flowers, and her court is composed of Dolores Tasz, Lois Wright, Wilma Danziger, and Georgetta Couch.

The next day we leave for Miami, Florida. The first day there we make an excursion to St. Augustine. Our guide, Berkley Zionts, explains the various things of interest. We have lunch at an exclusive French restaurant owned and operated by Loretta Maestri. The hostess, Pollie Walk, directs us to our table. The waiter, Louis Zanfino, serves a special luncheon prepared by the head chef, Howard Johnson. During the course of the meal Richard Missonak's band furnishes appropriate dinner music.

We have planned to visit Washington, D. C. The president, Don Abraham, has arranged to have us stay at the White House while we are here. At breakfast the next morning we meet some of the president's cabinet. Among those present are Wilbert McEwen, Secretary of Interior; Jack Streitman, Secretary of State; Richard Dooley, Secretary of Commerce; and Isabell Vitale, Secretary of Labor. At dinner that evening we meet the vice president, Mr. Henry Langer, and his efficient secretary,, Virginia Roblesky, who have just returned from a conference with the head of the F. B. I., Robert Nixon. Later that same evening we leave for New York.

We wire ahead for reservations at the Olga Koss Mountain Resort. Upon entering the lobby we are greeted at the desk by clerk Ruth Double. Don Brimmer assists us with our baggage. Before breakfast the next day we attend a skiing contest. Margaret Scott wins the award for her spectacular jump. Time is running short, so we decide to go on to New York without delay.

Once in New York the women decide to go on a shopping spree. We visit the exclusive E. Litvak Millinery Shoppe. To help us with our selection, different styles are modeled by Rose Ruminsky, Anna Turko, and Jean Spinda. While the women shop, the men visit the New York Times' office. They are greeted by the managing editor, Louise Falcioni, who turns them over to John Cyprowski, who will guide them through the office. We all meet at a cafe and have lunch. Then on to the museum for a tour of the art department. On display are several works of Jean Casciato and Pete Schepis. After dinner we attend a play on Broadway. Mildred Chapman is selling tickets and inside Shirley Wahl, Norma Grant, and Geraldine Timczyk are ushering. Featured in tonight's play are Barbara Uram and Joe Fereday. During the intermission Martin Schneider's orchestra plays a few pieces. As we look around we notice Rosemarie Klim, Betty Prescott, and Eileen Steiner occupying box seats. After the play we return to our rooms for a good night's rest.

The next morning we are awakened by Clara Gregory, Marilyn Chappel, and Loretta Kocaya, who serve us our breakfast in bed. After our long and fascinating trip, we are ready to be chauffeured home by Steve Gordon.
