The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It highlights the need for a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter and the role of the researcher in this process. The second part of the paper presents the methodology used in the study, including the data collection methods and the analysis techniques. The third part of the paper discusses the results of the study and the conclusions drawn from the findings. The final part of the paper provides a summary of the key points and offers suggestions for further research.

The research was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the principles of scientific inquiry. The data was collected from a variety of sources, including interviews, surveys, and archival records. The analysis was carried out using both qualitative and quantitative methods, allowing for a thorough examination of the data. The results of the study are presented in a clear and concise manner, with the conclusions drawn from the findings being well-supported by the evidence.

The findings of the study have important implications for the field of research. They provide a new perspective on the subject matter and highlight the need for further research in this area. The study also demonstrates the value of a multidisciplinary approach to research, as it allows for a more complete understanding of the subject matter.

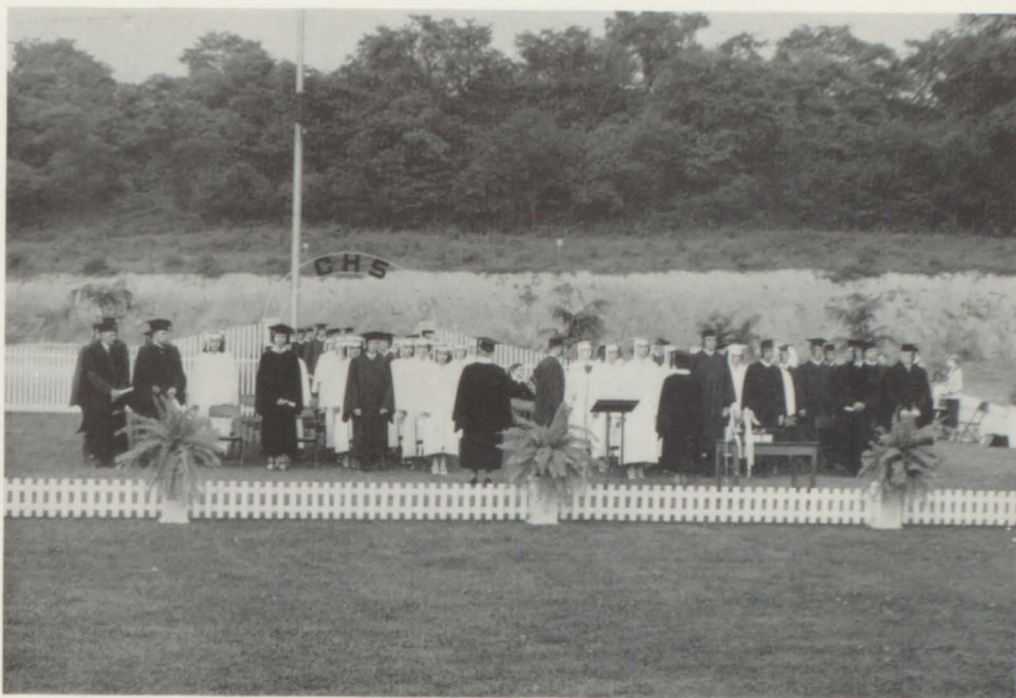

In conclusion, the study has provided a comprehensive and rigorous examination of the subject matter. The findings are well-supported by the evidence and have important implications for the field of research. The study also demonstrates the value of a multidisciplinary approach to research, as it allows for a more complete understanding of the subject matter.

The research was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the principles of scientific inquiry. The data was collected from a large and diverse sample of participants, ensuring the representativeness of the findings. The analysis was conducted using advanced statistical techniques, allowing for a detailed and accurate interpretation of the results.

The results of the study indicate that there is a significant relationship between the variables under investigation. This finding is consistent with the theoretical framework and provides valuable insights into the underlying mechanisms. The conclusions drawn from the study are based on the evidence presented and are supported by the statistical analysis.

In conclusion, the study has provided a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter and has identified key areas for future research. The findings have important implications for the field and offer valuable insights into the complex nature of the phenomenon being studied.

The 1952 Voyager

Presented by the

Senior Class of

Carnegie High School

Carnegie, Pennsylvania

Dedication

As we look back over our last year in Carnegie High School, you, Dr. Hickes, as our new superintendent, place among the highest on our list of memories. Your helpful and friendly ways soon made you a fast friend of all the students in the school, but what we are thanking you for now, and what the following classes shall continue to thank you for, is the genuine interest and concern that you have held for all the students in the school. The subjects and activities which were introduced for the first time this year are only symbolic of what we hope will come in future years. These and many other things have proved to us that you have started Carnegie High on an upward climb that will not stop until it has attained that goal of the finest of schools.

We hope that our high school has become a vital part of your life and will remain so for many years, just as you have become a part of Carnegie High's life. As a message of welcome and gratitude, we of the senior class of nineteen hundred and fifty-two would like to dedicate this year's edition of the VOYAGER to you.

Dr. Roy M. Hickey

To You, Miss Cochran and Miss Nesbitt . . .

We of the senior class of 1952 would like to take this opportunity to show you in some small way the appreciation and gratitude which every one of us feels toward you. Our four years of high school have gone much too quickly, and although we took part in many unforgettable events each year, our senior year will be by far the most memorable. From the beginning of the term in September and the start of the magazine campaign, our class was destined to be one of the best ever to pass through Carnegie High, and you as our senior teachers and sponsors have done more than anyone else to make it so.

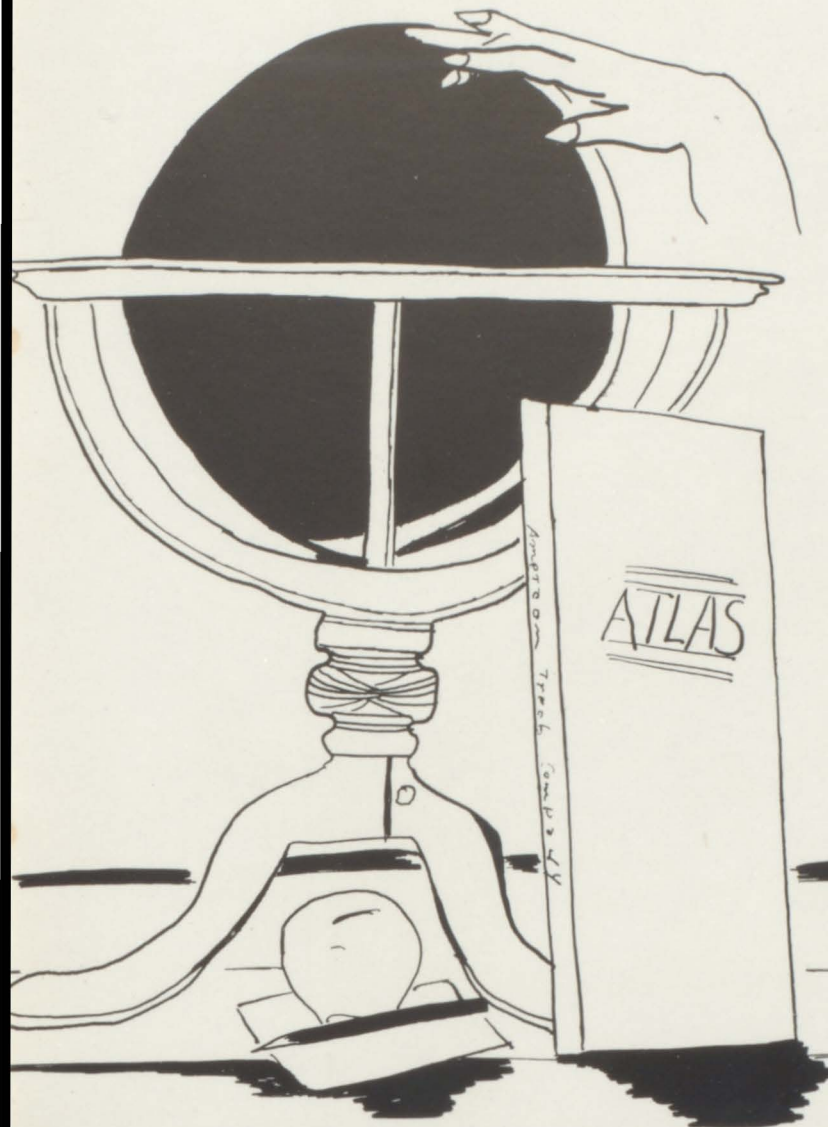

In all of the numerous activities that crowded into our school year you played an active part—helping where help was needed, giving advice where advice was needed, and always pushing us on to that goal that we often felt would never be reached. Our year was filled with what we felt were wonderful achievements, and even though we selfishly bestowed most of the praise upon ourselves, it rightfully belonged to you. Many times our attitudes were far from cooperative and you, no doubt, sensed this, but never once during all our years did you ever show that you were in the least discouraged or disgusted. Maybe that is the secret of the success of the senior activities each year, but whatever special qualities you possess, we hope you never lose them.

What most of the seniors will remember you for, however, and will time and again thank you for, is the advice and counsel that you have given us concerning not only our future lives but our present lives as well. Many were the hours that you have spent talking over personal problems with the students who had no one to turn to. You will probably never know the direct results of those discussions, but whatever success comes to any of the members of your senior class, you may feel confident that your efforts have played an important part. Many of us will never see you again after we pass through the white arch of Carnegie High for the last time, but there will not be one of us who will not remember, as one of the fondest memories of school, our two wonderful senior teachers.

These are the people who guide us in the paths of knowledge . . .

Board of Education

The Board of Education is the group of men empowered with the responsibility of seeing that all our school functions are carried out properly, not only in the high school but in the various grade schools as well. Meetings are held on the first Monday of every month, and the Board is always open to the suggestions and grievances of the public and the school administration. This year a very important function was the drawing of the plans for our new high school. Although the school is not yet a reality, the plans are near completion, and we are sure the untiring work of the board will not have been in vain.

Student-Faculty . . .

President Ronald Deak

Secretary Mary Jane Lohnes

The Student-Faculty is composed of two representatives from every club and class in the school, plus two teachers and Mr. Lee. One of the newer organizations in the school, it was started in 1944 to give the students a chance to voice their opinions on school affairs. At first all of the sponsors of the various clubs and organizations belonged, making the number of teachers and students about equal. Since then, the number of students has increased, and the number of teachers has decreased. The Student-Faculty does many things, from approving the new members of the clubs to voting on corsages for the proms. A calendar committee sets the dates for all of the school activities.

Dr. Hickes

Dr. Hickes

Dr. Hickes was born in the small town of Saxton, Pennsylvania. He attended Glassport High School and, after attending various colleges, he returned to his Alma Mater, where he taught and coached from 1929 until 1938. He then held the position of principal until 1951, when he came to Carnegie as superintendent of the public schools. In the short time he has been here, Dr. Hickes has won the respect and admiration, as well as the friendship, of all the students of the schools, and we hope that 1952 is the first year of a long career as superintendent of our schools.

Ruth Walton

Ruth Walton

A familiar sight in the superintendent's office is Miss Ruth Walton. She has been with us for the past six years. The first two were spent with Mr. Lee, the next three with Mr. Norman L. Glasser, and at the present she is secretary to our new superintendent, Dr. Roy Hickes. Although her work keeps her very busy, she always finds time to be friendly to all the students and is considered one of our best friends.

Mr. Lee

Mr. H. Howard Lee has been our principal for fifteen years. During these years he has given advice to all those who sought it. He has guided freshmen into regular routines. To the upper classmen he has given advice concerning future occupations and advanced education. This competent principal, with the help of the teachers, has set up a high standard of discipline in our school, for which we are all grateful. If it hadn't been for his co-operation as financial advisor of the Voyager, this twenty-eighth edition would not have been possible. The Class of '52 takes this last opportunity to express our thanks and appreciation.

Mr. Lee

Barbara Williams

A new addition to our high school is Miss Barbara Williams, who took over the role as Mr. Lee's secretary when Norma Grant left us in December. Barbara is not entirely new to all of us, for she is a graduate of 1950. Already a familiar sight to all of us, she will, we are all sure, fill the position very capably.

These are the people who fill the halls of Carnegie High . . .

These are the seniors---who they are---what they do--- and how they do it...

Laurenzi, Geisler, Struss, Spiecha

These Are Our Officers . . .

These four capable people were the ones chosen by our class to be the leaders. They were selected on their popularity, ability, and interest in the class.

John Spiecha, our president, is usually seen dashing in and out of Mr. Lee's and Dr. Hickes's offices, making announcements to the class, and passing out play books to be read and approved. A very efficient lad, that John. Our vice president is Don Geisler, who doesn't have too much work to do. Everyone knows this is quite all right with Don. If he were to preside over a class meeting, we know he would be efficient and deeply interested. Correct, Don? Pat Struss is the lucky one of the group. Being the treasurer, she handles all the class money. It isn't all fun, says Pat. (She is still trying to collect the class dues.) Keep trying, Pat! We'll come through! Last but not least is Iside Laurenzi, our secretary. Iside has to keep a record of the business, old and new. She must be doing a good job, as we haven't had any mix-ups. Nobody worries, because they know Iside can handle any job she is assigned to.

We are sure you will all agree that the class of '52 made a wise selection in choosing their officers. These students will always be remembered for their sincere and tireless efforts in making our senior year a success.

A cute little miss ... Looks very neat in her well chosen clothes ... Blond hair is very becoming to her ... Quite a gal on a dance floor ... Accomplishes everything she starts ... Oil painting, skating, and attending operettas are her favorite pastimes.

The Ballad of The '52 Cards

I

When the Voyager, our trusty ship,
Set sail upon the blue,
Along for the gay, adventurous trip
Went the Cards of '52.

II

Some, as crew, did all the work,
And so they earned their fare;
Others were royal passengers
Who breathed the good salt air.

III

The cards who scattered on the deck
Displayed their bright array,
All bowing to the Queen of Hearts:
The King stood close always.

IV

Below, the captain told the crew
That each must do his work,
For floggings and an empty purse
Would go to those who shirk.

Right from the start each one resolved
To do his best each day,
So when in June the voyage ends
They'd all receive their pay.

VI

And so they set about their tasks,
(Too numerous to name,)
While up on deck the royal cards
Played at their silly game.

The ship sailed on; the months flew by;
Their journey was half through,
And then one day they struck a rock
That split the boat in two.

VIII

"Help!" cried the fragile majesties,
And all the court besides;
"Oh, save us ere we're washed away
By the fast incoming tides!"

IX

The faithful crew were well prepared
For emergencies like these,
While the passengers had spent their time
In luxury and ease.

The sailors saved them from distress,
Yes, from the very brink,
Although the lazy ones deserved
To be left behind to sink.

XI

The royal ones then promised
To share both jobs and fun;
So with co-operation, more
And better things were done.

XII

Then, when the voyage was over,
They walked from ship to land.
The admirals were waiting there
To shake each by the hand.

XIII

The spring breeze filled the air with such
A pleasant faint aroma,
And each proud sailor got his pay—
That hard earned, dear diploma!

These are the outstanding seniors of the class of 1952. These people have been chosen to represent our class because of their personality, character, popularity, scholarship, athletic ability, and their participation in extracurricular activities of the school. This year, because of numerous difficulties, the method of selecting this group was changed. Instead of having the whole school vote for them, as was done in previous years, the Voyager staff elected them after they had been nominated by the members of the faculty. The results showed that this method is more than satisfactory, and we feel confident that everyone will agree that these are the outstanding people of our class.

The night of April 4 will remain as one of the happiest in the minds of many students of the Class of '52. At first it was a night of worry and confusion to the members of the cast, but as soon as the first act started, every one felt reassured that the play was going to be another outstanding achievement to place in our book of memories. Our long-time rival, Scott High, proved a very helpful friend by lending us Mr. Nicholas Novelli, our director. As well as doing a wonderful job of directing the play, he played a very important part in making the preparations for the play a time of fun and enjoyment. All in all, the six weeks of rehearsals and the night of the play shall never be forgotten by any one who participated, and the senior class can rightfully be proud of the senior play of 1952.

Magazine Campaign . . .

With our two captains, Joann Checco and Sonia Hutchins, steering us toward our goal, we, the seniors of '52, managed to accomplish what was set before us. Our two managers, Jean Zagorsky and Mary Telthorster, proved a great help, too. The senior class, only sixty-eight in number, was able to set a record magazine campaign by selling $2,417.40 worth of literature to residents of Carnegie and its vicinity, receiving $789.95 in commissions. At the beginning of the campaign we were lagging, but before long the money came rolling in to prove that we could do what was expected of us. Those seniors selling $30 worth of magazines were awarded with certificates for outstanding salesmanship. Mary Telthorster and Charlotte Popivchak were the outstanding salesmen who were awarded the cash prizes.

Ave Atque Vale

We the Class of '52 have stood between two eras; it has been our fortune to see the dream of a new Carnegie High School begin. Although the material part of that dream is still a blueprint, a spirit of progress has already crept into the social as well as the serious aspects of student life.

The face of things has indeed changed, for this year several pleasant personalities were welcomed to the faculty, headed by Dr. Hickes as superintendent. Naturally we missed those who were no longer to be found in the classrooms and halls, but after getting acquainted with the new teachers, we found them to be not only capable, but also wonderful, people. In gym class Mrs. Pruner showed what exercise could do for healthy young girls, although many did not feel as though the aching muscles were much of a reward. Mrs. Mikus, substituting for Miss Burig, who is on a sabbatical leave, opened the eyes of many skeptical sophomores to the principles of biology, health, and science. The success of the Spring Concert gave ample proof of Mr. Bandyk's success and ability as music director, and Mr. Zaney turned out new drivers by mass production with the new driver education course. Besides giving advice to anyone wishing guidance, Mr. Match arranged assemblies at the library auditorium, where programs ranged from wildlife movies in technicolor to round table discussions with visiting student speakers.

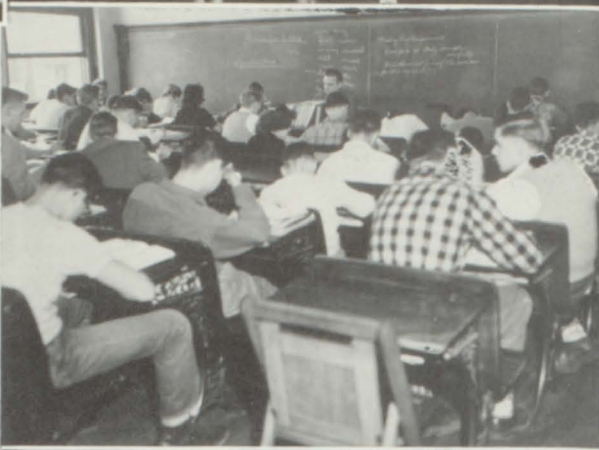

This was indeed a year of famous firsts. The auditorium became the scene of many other school events, including pep meetings and the beautiful, impressive Christmas pageant put on by the members of our senior class. Our class made records with other firsts also, by topping all other sales records in the magazine campaign, and by aiding the French Club to be one of the most active clubs in the school for the first time. The ban having been lifted, corsages were allowed at the Senior Prom for the first time in several years, and their scent flowed through the Winter Wonderland.

How memorable was that night of glorious triumph over Scott Township in the closing game of the season! We cheered our conquering heroes in their defeat of long-time rivals and celebrated with a victory dance. This meant that one more win for our team would gain the gold cup which will be awarded in three years to the winner of two out of three games.

The old school seems to be moving forward with the changing times, and we in passing through its portals have caught a glimpse of the tremendous transition yet to come. There are visions of a beautiful modern architectural structure with countless classrooms and fascinating new subjects, but these yellow brick walls and the familiar teachers, who have been friends as well, will never be forgotten.

We hope that, in the building of a new Carnegie High School, among its new ideas will be inlaid the fine traditions of the past that make our school worthy of the title, Alma Mater.

We The Freshmen . . .

"Pardon me . . . I'm mixed up . . . I mean . . . Oh, well, where could I find Room 10? Thank you! Excuse me, please . . . Oops . . . I'm sorry . . . I wonder where they hide that elevator that senior told me about? I know I'll never find that room. I'm ten minutes late already."

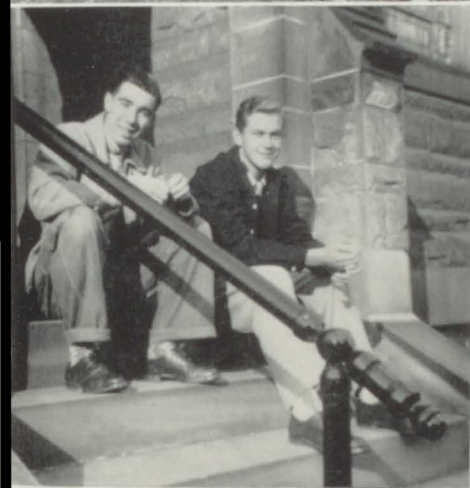

Well, that was a very mild idea of what our first day at Carnegie High was like. After coming over from Harding, where we were the big wheels, we found our first days of high school quite a shock, but we loved everything right from the very first moment. For the first week most of us were still hunting for the elevator to the second floor and believing the upperclassmen when they said the signs to the boys' and girls' gym were really reversed, but slowly we caught on to their jokes. It took us a little longer to learn our way around, since most of us were just carried along with the tide and had to wait until the halls were all clear to get our bearings.

As the days passed, we became more accustomed to the surroundings and outgrew our feelings of inferiority. The football games and later the basketball games made us feel really a part of the gang, and we know we did our part in cheering the teams on to their victories. Our junior high basketball team made us every bit as proud as the varsity made the upperclassmen, and we are looking forward to the years when we will be cheering our own classmates in the varsity uniforms. (Canteen was about the best part of our new high school life, as it is to every freshman class, and some of our bashful boys really surprised us and turned out to be quite the dancers.)

The many and various activities of the high school proved to be the most drastic change from our grade school life, and we finally decided that it was utterly impossible to attend them all and that we would have to stay at home at least a couple of nights a week to do the nightwork that the teachers never seemed to forget to give us. It seemed that, after having ten subjects in grade school, having only four would be a cinch, but it did not turn out that way. Those four studies proved to be just as hard as any we had ever had and, even though a good many liked to fool around in classes instead of doing their work, the first six weeks' report brought most of us back into line again.

As the year swiftly moved by, we became more and more a part of the high school activities, and even the seniors and juniors, contrary to our belief, seemed actually to like us and not to consider us as "those horrible underclassmen." The year passed much too quickly for us, and although we looked forward to those days when we would be sophomores, juniors, and finally seniors, our freshman year contained many events that will live in our memories long after our high school days are behind us.

These are the many things which make our school days the happiest time in our lives . . .

"Noblesse Oblige," the motto of the Honor Society, means nobility obliges, a French phrase implying that nobility of birth makes nobility of conduct obligatory. Although the members are not of noble birth, nobility of conduct is necessary to obtain membership in this club. The first qualification for prospective members is that they be in the upper one-fifth of the senior or junior class. Then they are voted on by the faculty as to their character, leadership, and service. These four requirements are represented on the pin by the letters C (character), S (scholarship), L (leadership), S (service). The pin also has the emblem of a flaming torch. In June the parents and friends of the members are invited to the impressive formal induction, part of which is the presentation of their membership cards by Mr. Lee. The seniors dress in their caps and gowns. This is the only activity of the organization, but it will always be remembered by its members.

The Drama Club, limited to fifty members, is sponsored by Miss Hepler. Applicants must have some dramatic ability, which they must display to the members through a skit or pantomime. Those whose efforts receive the highest ratings are accepted. At most of the meetings, which are held the second and fourth Fridays of every month, one-act plays or other forms of entertainment are presented. This year our club was invited to the Carnegie Tech Little Theater to view their production of No Ear for Treason. A red-letter day for the club was on December 14, when the annual dance, Santa's Toyland, was held at Harding Gym.

The Camera Club is one of the scientific clubs of the school. Its purpose is to teach the members to take better pictures. At the meetings Mr. Burkett, the sponsor, shows the processes of the development, printing, and enlarging of pictures, and the structure of the camera. After these meetings a darkroom schedule is made, and the members get some real experience in what they learned. The club was organized in 1938 by Mr. E. D. Jarema, who was succeeded by Mr. Burkett in 1942. During the war the club was hindered by a shortage of film, but by now the club is well back to normal. Also, this year for the first time in several years, the club held a dance, which was given conjointly with the Commercial Club. The year ended with the election of new officers, so that next year's club can start well and accomplish much.

The Tri-Hi-Y is a fellowship organization striving "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character," as their purpose reads. The club is affiliated with the Y. M. C. A. and is a sister club to the Hi-Y. The Y. M. C. A. sponsors such activities as the annual Convocation Service and council meetings, which representatives of the clubs attend. Each year the girls send CARE packages, and they also contribute to the World Youth Fund. One of their good deeds this year was to pack clothes for families in Austria. The sponsor, Mrs. Sawhill, contributes her share of help and advice, which helps make the club a success.

The Hi-Y, under the sponsorship of Mr. Logan, is one of the most popular clubs in the school for boys. The Hi-Y is dedicated to creating, maintaining, and extending throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character. Each year the club acts as the school Santa Claus by supplying and decorating the school Christmas tree. This club sponsors a basketball team and at least one swimming party a year. One of the highlights of the school year is the dance and floor show presented by the club. Graduates will always remember this club for its religious services and social life.

This year marks the twenty-first year since the founding of the Commercial Club. Up until this year the membership of the club depended upon the grades of the students. Sophomores had to have an average of 85 per cent, while juniors had to have at least 80 per cent. This requirement was a drawback to the size of the club. Because there is no grade limit on membership now, the club is the largest it has been in a long time. Various committees were appointed, and therefore each meeting was well planned. The club this year, together with the Camera Club, sponsored a dance on February 29. It proved to be very successful. Many thanks go to Miss Boyle, who encouraged us at all times.

Organized in 1947, the Rifle Club has as its purpose instructing all those who are interested in the proper use of a gun. The sponsor, Mr. Robb, is very patient when he is explaining the parts of a gun to a new member, and he stresses carefulness as to its handling. The club has grown in popularity and membership during the past four years. To be accepted into this club, each person must qualify through a test by firing ten shots. A social event is held each year to help finance the purchase of new equipment. The main match of the year is the competition for recognition at Oakmont.

The Girls' Athletic Association is the club for the more sports-minded girls of the school. Mrs. Jean Pruner, our new gym instructor, took over the sponsorship this year, and for the first time the prospective members had to try out by exhibiting their ability in various gymnastics. Then the girls receiving the highest scores were voted on, as in previous years. The G. A. A. is one of the most active clubs in the school, and the annual skating party is one of its highlights. In the spring of the year the club provides a Mother's Day banquet for the members and their mothers. At this event the officers for the coming year are announced.

Known by their sharp jackets . . .

All boys would like to join the Varsity "C" club, but only a few may, because one cannot gain membership until he has proved he can excel in one or more sports. That is, membership is open only to boys who have received a letter for a competitive sport, such as football, baseball, basketball, or wrestling. The club's principal function is to earn money for those injured in competitive sports. Achievement, not popularity, is the outstanding characteristic of this club. The club obtains money by holding dances and other club-planned affairs. It has been sponsored by our coach, Mr. Giannangelo, for the past four years.

This year the French Club celebrated its second anniversary on the roster of activities. Under the direction of Miss Coogle the new organization has built up such interest that the maximum limit of members was reached for the first time. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in the French nation and language and to extend such interest throughout the school. The new members, who are inducted each semester, take part in a formal induction service led by the officers. This year a new ceremony was introduced, followed by a Christmas party with refreshments in study hall. The members hope some day to obtain a charter in the National French Clubs.

Choir . . .

The Choir is the largest music group in C. H. S., and it is composed of the best voices. Its music makes up the biggest part of the annual Spring Concert, and the mixed voices fulfill all expectations. For the last two years the music groups have presented a Christmas program for the pupils of the public schools. This year they entertained between acts of the Christmas pageant. At the end of each school year the new members of the Triple Trio are chosen from the Choir and G-Clef. The Double Quartet is chosen at the beginning of the year. These two groups entertain at different club meetings throughout the year and also take an active part in the concert. Roslyn Grinberg accompanies the Choir, and Emily English plays for the Triple Trio and the Double Quartet.

The Glee Club . . .

The Glee Club is a male chorus composed of sophomore, junior and senior members. Like all other musical groups they are under the direction of Mr. Bandyk; Jolinda Voorhees is their accompanist. These boys are interested in learning to sing four-part male chorus work. The Glee Club did a marvelous job in singing Christmas carols during the intermissions of the Christmas pageant. The applause from the audience proved that they liked it also. The members practiced earnestly during the year and as a result helped the Spring Concert to be a big success.

Byers, Matalka, Obenour, Krason, Witzel, Weinmann, Suchan, Leone, Houy. SIXTH ROW: Wright, Lohnes, Colville, Chirumbole, Fox, Walker, Pachel, Chariton, Dazen, Bobish.

The G Clef . . .

The G Clef, under the direction of Mr. Bandyk, consists of sixty girls selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. This group, with Nanette Messiner as the accompanist, meets every Tuesday and Thursday. Last December the girls did a splendid job in recording their voices on a tape recorder. After several weeks of practicing the Christmas carols, the G Clef sang at an intermission during the Christmas pageant. Like the other vocal groups they are proud to present their talents at the Spring Concert, where the G Clef usually sings four of their favorite songs.

The Swing Band .

The Carnegie High Band puts pep into our school life. It plays for the pep meetings, football games, and its own band concert. Remember some of the acts at the half time during the 1951 football season? There were the Hawaiian dance, the clock, the farm, and many others. Wasn't that wonderful entertainment? It also was a lot of work on the part of the members. The band is always ready with entertainment and good music whenever called upon. In the spring the band has its concert. It has a well-rounded program, the first part consisting of classical and semi-classical compositions, along with a few good marches; and the second half is taken over by our Swing Band. The Swing Band consists of the best musicians from the band, and membership is open only to members of the marching band. Their half of the concert presents the lighter side of music, which consists of popular music, along with comedy acts and a stage show. The band is under the directorship of Mr. Walter H. Cameron. John Spiecha is its student director, and Lucille Tiberio the treasurer.

The Athletic Association

This association is composed of all the different coaches of the school and the two physical education teachers of the high school. The group was more active this year than in previous years and was also reorganized. The members of this committee schedule all of the football, basketball, baseball, and wrestling games in which our teams meet those of other schools. Also it is their job to provide the transportation to all of the games and to provide the proper equipment. The students of the high school are indebted to these competent people for providing us with the full schedule of sports events that we have enjoyed for so long.

The Cheerleaders . . .

Getting to be a cheerleader is worth every ache, pain, and worry involved in trying out. Ask any one of C. H. S.'s cheerleaders, and she will answer in the affirmative. This year there were two important changes in the set-up. Linda Lewis was the cute mascot and Mrs. Pruner (Miss Aleski) replaced Mrs. Cook (Miss Mitchell) as sponsor.

This year's cheerleaders are: SENIORS: Anne Sedlar—(head) who was always found in the girls' room two minutes before game time taking out bobby pins and polishing her shoes. Shirley Dowler—who never was able to remember what cheer was to be done next. Clara Ann Story—who was always careful to have every strand of hair in place; she often featured a pony tail. JUNIORS: Lilene Lewis—who made the games a little more interesting with some of her cute jokes. Genevieve Guerro—who really showed fine spirit. She must have had springs inside because of the way she bounced up and down when a player scored a point. Dolores Fekula—who always enjoyed cheering, especially at pep meetings. SOPHOMORE: Jean Guerrero—who was usually dashing into Bell's at five to seven, asking breathlessly, "Am I late?" (She was supposed to meet the others at six-thirty).

All in all, cheering was a lot of fun, and the ones that graduate are going to miss it as much as, or more than, anything else in school.

These are The Games We Played . . .

Dormont 33 - Carnegie 14. The whistle blew! The Tartans sprang into action against the Dormont Bulldogs. Our boys played hard football, but inexperience led to defeat in the opener. Although Carnegie's aerial attack was clicking, in the second quarter Dormont's smooth-working machine began to roll. The highlight of the game came when Miller of Dormont broke away on an 87-yard run to pay dirt . . .

Carnegie 7 - Bridgeville 6. Carnegie opened its Class B schedule with a victory over the Indians. Our single tally occurred when Massella sailed the pigskin to Snyder in the second quarter. The margin of 7-6 was Shinko's toe. Many penalties were setbacks for both teams, but our swift-charging defense halted Bridgeville's attack. Later this game was nullified because of our team's using ineligible players . . .

McKees Rocks 27 - Carnegie 0. Carnegie lost a heartbreaker to the Rocks in the third game of the season. The Tartans received a startling surprise when the Rocks scored in the first play of the game. Our eleven roared defiantly, but the Rock's superior power beat down our stubborn defense. Carnegie's offensive attack just couldn't get started, as our opponents' score kept climbing higher and higher . . .

Moon 19 - Carnegie 13. Our fourth attempt got off to a poor start, with both teams playing ragged football and Moon making the first T. D. In the next quarter Massella flipped a pass to Snyder for our first touchdown. As the second half gained momentum, Botsford pitched to Obenour for our clincher. To our distress Moon staged a last-quarter rally by invading our end zone twice and smothered us in our own back yard . . .

Stowe 25 - Carnegie 13. Our boys suffered a hard one as unbeaten Stowe again sank her claws into the victory column. The Tartans tackled a big job and fought to the finish, but the big Stowe eleven overpowered Carnegie's gridsters. In the second half our team found themselves, when our scores came through the air. First Massella tossed a perfect strike to Shinko, and secondly Gordon intercepted the pigskin and dashed the distance . . .

Carnegie 0 - Chartiers 0. At the Canonsburg stadium the Carnegie Tartans outplayed the Bucs but settled for a 0-0 tie. Our only touchdown, a pass from Massella to Obenour, was recalled as a penalty. Chartiers moved close to the line but couldn't put the ball across. The teams were evenly matched, but neither showed the fighting spirit it takes to go places . . .

Carnegie 20 - Glassport 13. The Little Tartans sprang back to victory when they stopped the Gladiators on their own field 20-13. The Tartans were kept on their toes throughout the game. When the bands performed, the Orange and Black shaded the Red, White, and Blue by one point, 7-6, the first T. D. being made by Massella. As the game progressed, we struck through the air lanes when Massella pitched to Snyder twice. In the last quarter Glassport scored their second T. D., and later had a good chance to tie, but lost the ball on downs . . .

Carnegie 33 - Freedom 0. Carnegie ripped Freedom 33-0. The Tartans opened a powerful ground attack as Obenour skipped over the line, quickly followed by May, in the first quarter. The second quarter again found Obenour across the goal. For added insurance Shinko slid through tackle twice to put the game on ice. Freedom fought hard, but the overwhelming success of the Black and Orange seemed to stun the opposition, and our B squad had little trouble holding them in the second half . . .

Crafton 39 - Carnegie 0. Cold wind, rain, and mud proved a hazard to the Little Tartans. Our fine winning streak was broken when we met the strong Crafton eleven. The Blue and Gold, led by Marzarrella, who made four touchdowns and three extra points, buried our boys in Crafton mud. Carnegie fought hard and in the last quarter got as far as their opponents' four-yard line, but were stopped cold by a strong defense . . .

Carnegie 33 - Clark 6. Next came the game of the year. At last we slaughtered Scott! We held our breath as Stock of Scott Township scooped up a blocked punt and dashed for a T. D. in the first few minutes of the game, but we were relieved as May sprinted 73 yards on a kick-off return. In the plays that followed, Obenour snagged Massella's pass for a tally, and Shinko made another T. D. in the first half. Shinko, Massella, and Zemon each scored in the last half to close an exciting season. This brought our record to three wins, one tie, and six defeats.

Girls' Sports . . .

This year the girls of the high school have enjoyed a fuller sports schedule than in previous years. At the beginning of the year Mrs. Pruner started teaching the girls the fine points of volleyball. Then each of the gym classes formed a volleyball team which played other classes. Later, when the girls had acquired a good knowledge of the game, teams were picked from each of the four classes: freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior. These teams played each other during the eighth periods, and the team of the juniors was the only team to complete all of the games without having been defeated.

After the volleyball games were completed, basketball teams were chosen in much the same way. Each gym class was divided into three basketball teams, and by their performances in these games the girls on the class teams were chosen. Of the games these teams played the seniors won most frequently.

Calendar of Events for 1952

SEPTEMBER

- 4 Our first day as seniors. How strange not to see the '51 class, but in its place the new crop of puzzled freshmen wandering around the halls! The magazine campaign began with a burst of enthusiasm and our managers, Sonia Hutchins, Mary Telthorster, Jean Zagorsky, and Joann Checco were put in charge.
- 5 Many things were new and different this year, and changes greeted us everywhere.
- 7 Rah! Rah! The first big pep rally took place at the library; we saw the new cheerleaders for the first time.
- 14 We defeated Bridgeville 7-6 in an unforgettable glory of victory.
- 20 A dreary night when loyal Tartan fans sat out the McKees Rocks game when they beat us.
- 26 G. A. A. held try-outs for prospective members.
- 29-30 Hi-Y officers, Noel Miller, Frank Nadolny, and John Spiecha, went to a training camp weekend.

OCTOBER

- 9 Tri-Hi-Y girls met at Mrs. Sawhill's to pack clothes for Austria.
- 12 Teachers had a convention; we had a day away from school!
- 18-19 We faced the six-weeks' tests with not too convincing indifference. A good deal of red ink was used by the faculty, to our dismay.
- 22 The first report cards went home eventually. We didn't deny that the grades could stand improvement.
- 24 Shaky applicants put on a clever group of skits, and old Drama Club members voted in the new dramas.
- 25 Everyone wondered who the good-looking sharp dressers were in Rooms 5 and 14, but this was just the day for senior pictures.
- 26 Eager Drama Club members boarded a chartered bus for Tech to see "No Ear for Treason" with their advisor, Miss Hepler. It was a memorable performance.
- 26 Another big triumph for the Orange and Black was the defeat of Freedom, 33-0.
- 29 Red Feather round table discussion at another assembly, where we had guest student speakers.
- 31 Witches and goblins made their annual debut (plus other more human trouble makers), and the Halloween parade was a great spectacle.

NOVEMBER

- 5 Mobile unit brought T. B. X-rays.
- 8 Bonfire on a cold night as a pep rally for the Scott game.
- 9 What a big day to remember! French students went to the art exhibit at Carnegie Museum; the whole school saw a technicolor movie about wildlife, which turned out to be interesting and beautiful. That night we won the big game, defeated our rival Scott by a score of 33-6! Then everyone met at Dean Chappel's open house.

- 12 Holiday! No school to celebrate Armistice Day.
- 15 Mr. and Mrs. High School Parent came this evening to school to meet our teachers and learn about the school system.
- 16 Several students attended the first of a group of lectures at Carnegie Music Hall.
- 22-23 Vacation to enjoy a wonderful turkey dinner and to give thanks for an American heritage.
- 24 Football King and Queen were crowned. (Wayne Obenour and Ann Sedlar)
- 27 Miss Nesbitt's senior Latin class saw the tremendous production, "Quo Vadis."
- 28 In its beautiful candlelight ceremony Tri-Hi-Y inducted new members.
- 30 After planning and working, the Senior Dance turned out to be truly a "Winter Wonderland." We danced among sparkling snow and twinkling stars.

DECEMBER

- 4 Basketball season opened.
- 5 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Convocation Services in Oakland.
- 6 Drama Club presented "The Christmas Rose."
- 12 Mr. Match presented men and women of industry at an assembly to speak about job-hunting.
- 14 Drama Club sponsored the "Santa's Toyland" dance.
- 17 The French Club inducted new members in a ceremony "a la Francaise".
- 19 The Tri-Hi-Y Christmas party.
- 20 Canteen held a Christmas dance and even had Santa Claus as special guest.
- 21 The Triple Trio, Double Quartet, and a few band members took their carols to the grade schools. "The Pageant of the Holy Grail" was presented at the library, complete with costumes and music between the acts.
- 22-31 Vacation and a much needed one.

JANUARY

- 1 New Year's Day. The old year drew to a close, as did our Christmas vacation.
- 3 Back to school we came, sporting pretty new sweaters and shirts, thanks to Santa Claus.
- 7-11 Mr. Zaney took several boys and girls for their drivers' tests. Some returned beaming and waving licenses; others shed tears for the big red FAILED stamp.
- 14-15 Carnegie High looked like Hollywood when everyone came dressed up for Voyager pictures.

Calendar of Events for 1952

- 19 Members of both the See and Voyager staffs went to Pitt's publications institute.
- 22 Oh, my! G. A. A.'s new members were initiated by coming to school with pigtails and no make-up. Rah! Rah! The basketball team defeated Coraopolis.
- 24 Mid-term exams again, and we really hit the books.
- 26 What a crazy idea, but what fun! Guys and gals kicked off their shoes for a good time at the Sock Dance.
- 29 Test papers were handed back; we never saw so much red ink.

FEBRUARY

- 2 Old Mr. Groundhog stepped out on his day and announced . . . oh, who believes in groundhogs, anyway?
- 7 Drama Club members were initiated in record-breaking style, the poor kids.
- 8 Oh! Happy day! The juniors got measured for their rings.
- 13 Pins, pins! Everyone was anxiously awaiting the arrival of shiny gold club pins.
- 19 Mr. Novelli began tryouts for the senior play. The scared seniors stuttered through, breathlessly hoping for a part.
- 21 The cast was picked with Clara Ann Story heading the list as Our Miss Brooks.
- 29 Leap Year, and many were the girls who leaped. Commercial and Camera Clubs got together and planned a wonderful dance. It was named "Mardi Gras," appropriate to the season.

MARCH

- 3 The flu bug had devastated the school; so many were at home sick.
- 6 Absentees reached a new high of 84; the virus and germ had a real heyday.
- 7 Everyone went Texan for a real Western Blue Jeans dance.
- 8 Br-r-r! A swimming party? A bit out of season, perhaps, but those red-blooded Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members who went for the pool and a dance afterwards had a terrific time. Last of the Voyager pictures were taken.
- 11 New National Honor Society members announced.
- 12 Anyone who wanted to go around with wheels whizzed on skates at the G. A. A. skating party.
- 15 Bosko Skirpan won the wrestling tournament and became state champion in the heavyweight division. We are really proud of him.
- 17 St. Patrick's Day and the Wearin' of the Green.
- 25 Only another week of practice and then . . . the play. Cast was beginning to get stage fright.

- 29 A few seniors went to take the competitive tests for scholarships offered by the Civic Club of Allegheny County.

APRIL

- 1 Whole school was let out early this year for good behavior . . . April Fool!
- 2 Matinee performance of "Our Miss Brooks" for the grade schools.
- 4 Opening night! A huge success for everyone who had a part in the play or who worked hard on committees.
- 11-14 Off to a long weekend vacation. We needed it with all that spring fever that was floating around.
- 13 Easter meant beautiful, solemn services and the annual hunt for a chocolate Easter bunny, not to mention the dozens of brightly colored eggs.
- 18 Trumpets, drums, and all the rest combined for a thrilling band concert under Mr. Cameron's supervision.

MAY

- 1 Report cards broke many a heart. We all made up our minds, if a little late, to get busy with homework.
- 2 The juniors worked hard to produce a prom that everyone enjoyed. It was certainly a dreamy dance.
- 9 The night and the music and beautiful gowns were memories of the spring concert. All music groups were a credit to Mr. Bandyk's very able direction.
- 15 Ann Sedlar reigned as our May Queen at the Tri-Hi-Y dance.
- 21 We packed lunches, and off we went to Kennywood for a day of fun at the school picnic.
- 23 Varsity "C" held its dance . . . another big event.
- 29 National Honor Society inductions. A very impressive ceremony and very happy new members.
- 30 Memorial Day—no school, and the thrill of a parade.

JUNE

- 1 Seniors had their annual sermon and began to realize that soon they would be out on their own.
- 3 The senior banquet, and what a memorable occasion it was.
- 4 Serious and happy young men and women walked through the white gate to receive their diplomas in commencement exercises.
- 6 We received our report cards. The time had flown by so fast, but it was a wonderful year. Good luck to the graduates in whatever you do and to all underclassmen, "Good-bye until we meet again."
