I do my thing, and you do your thing.
I am not in this world to live up to your
expectations
And you are not in this world to live up
to mine.
You are you and I am I
And if by chance we find each other
it's beautiful.

Dedication

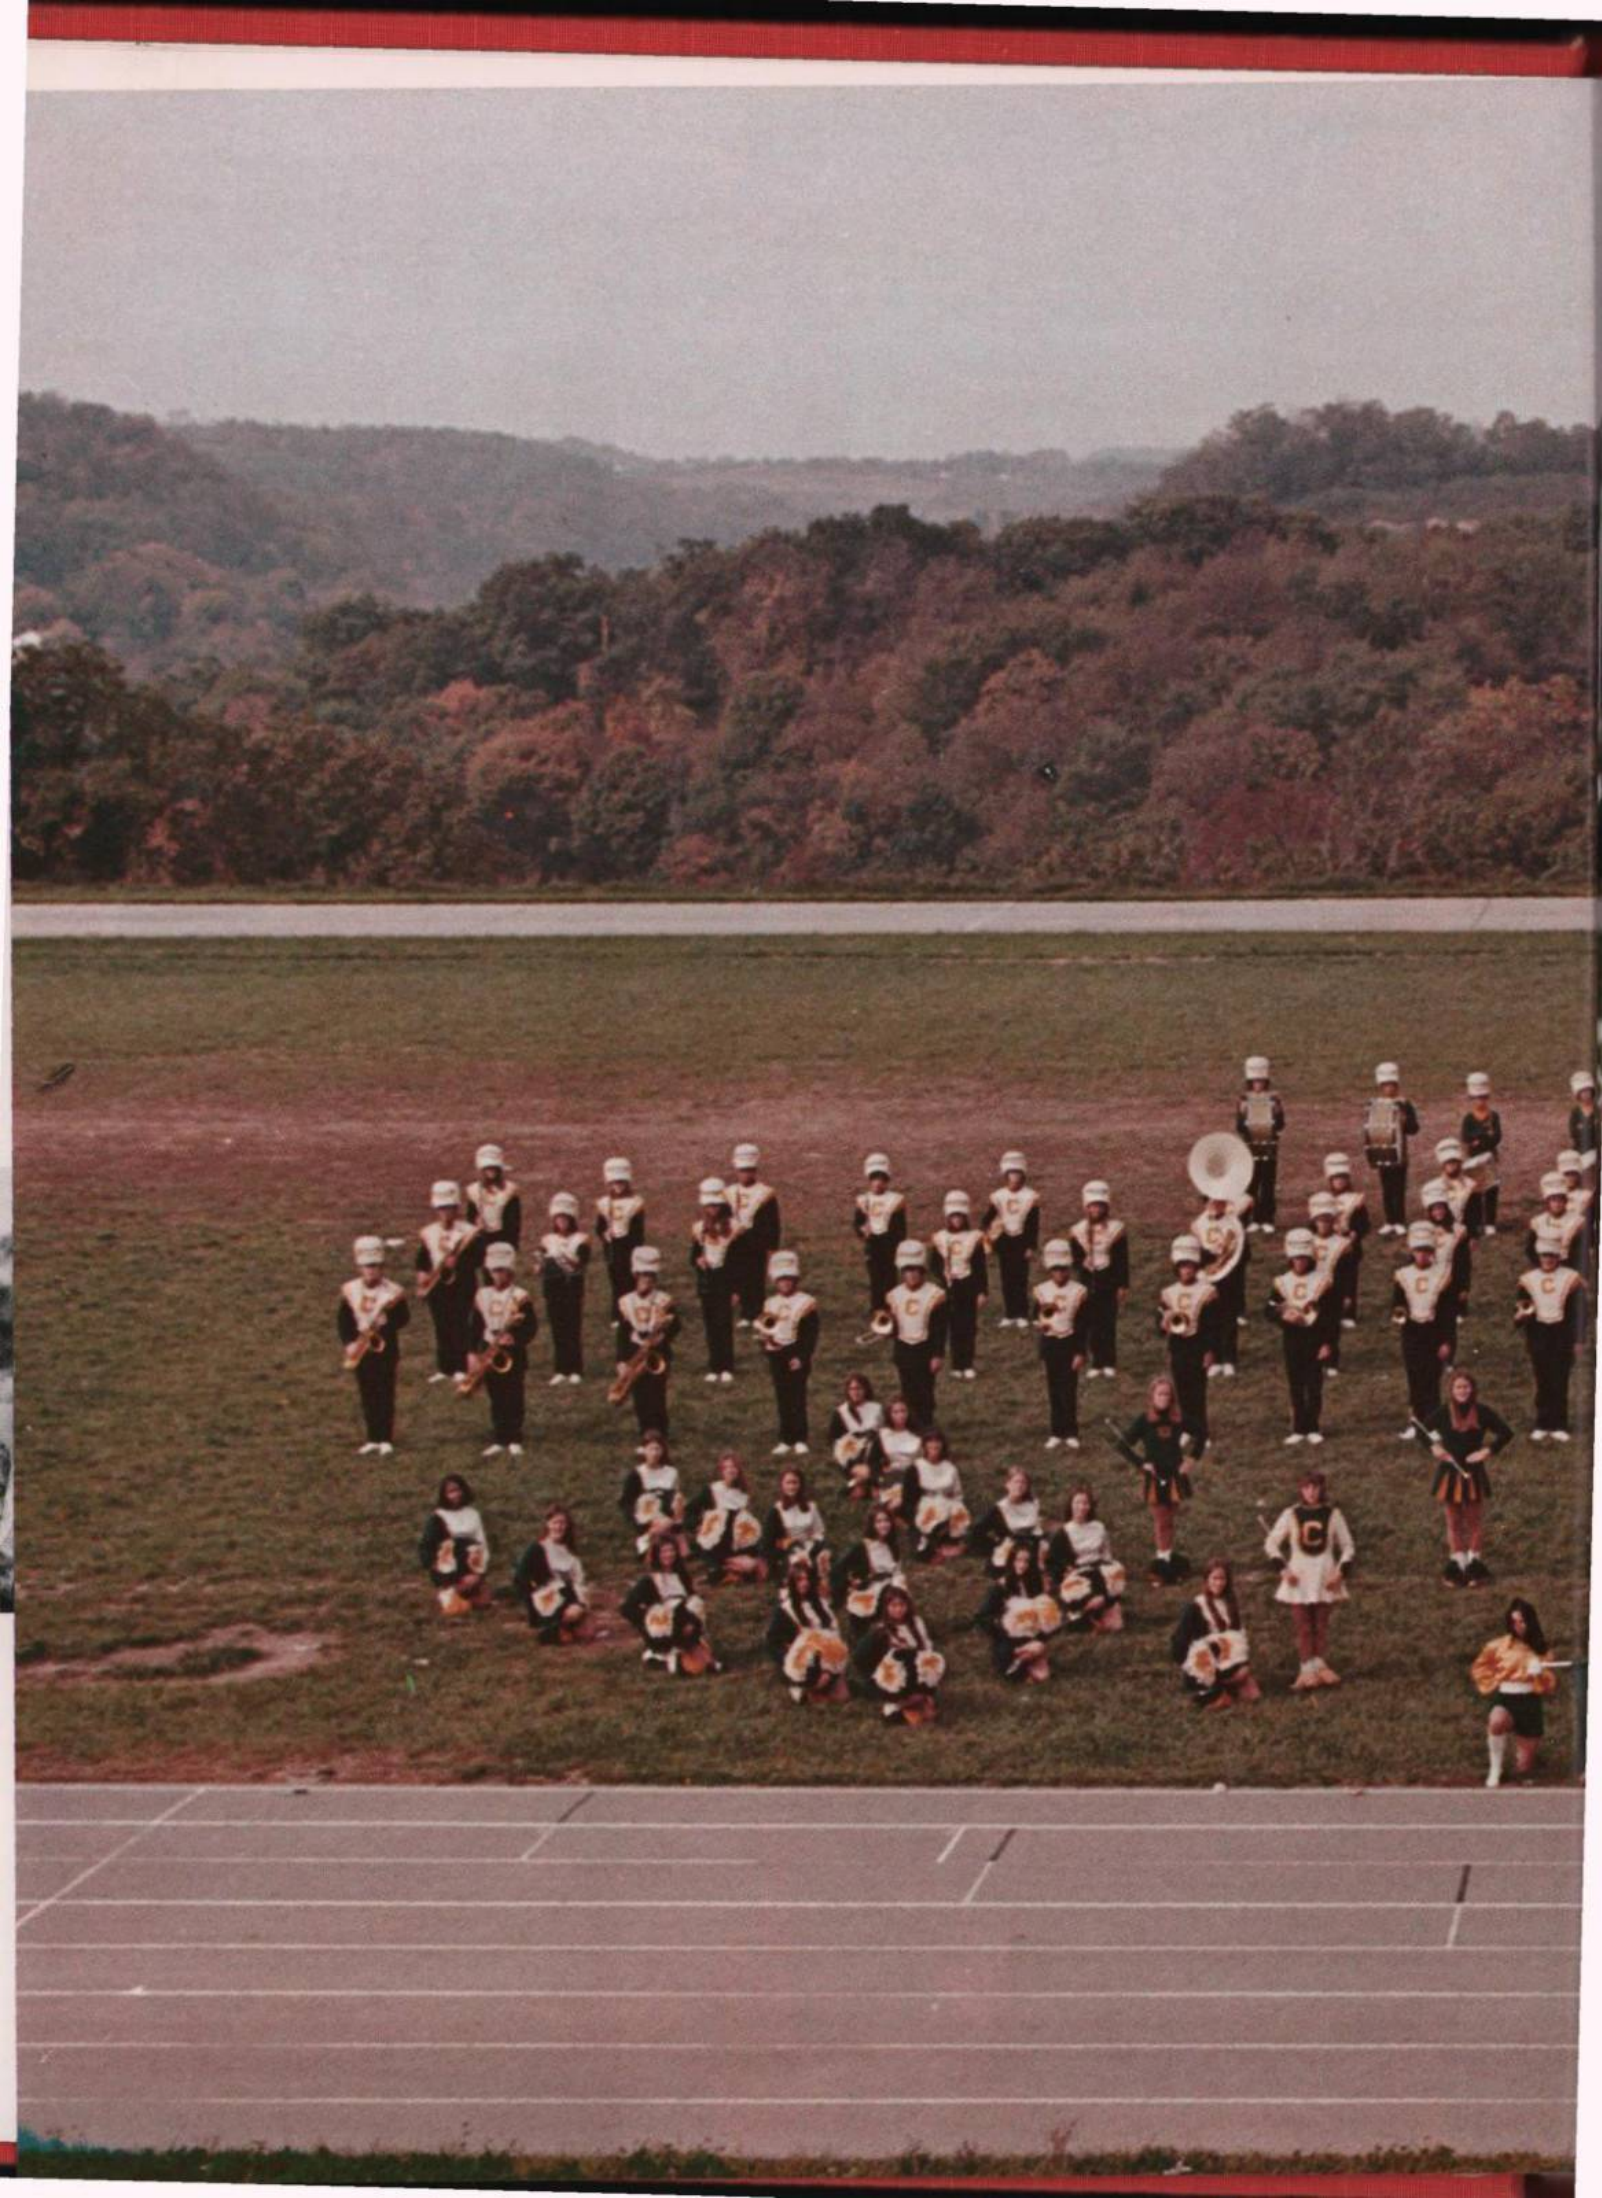

Because of his unique individualism and his vibrant personality, because of his refreshing and unconventional approach in teaching, because he is able to take English and make it live through stimulating class discussions and thought-provoking ideas, we, the Senior Class of 1974, proudly dedicate Reflections '74 to MR. JOSEPH F. SCHROTH.

So it's your final year of school. The first big day has finally come when you squeeze through those big doors of Carlynton High School you are officially a "Big Bad Senior." But after you've entered, you see the same old Carlynton with the same old faces and you feel like the same old you. It's kind of disappointing because you know it's just like the year before and the year before that. All these years you've waited to be a Senior and now that you are one you feel like — well you don't really feel anything. But you start traipsing around the halls and you get to thinking about when you were a little kid and didn't know your way around Carlynton. And just about that time some little kid has the nerve to ask you a SENIOR where the pool is. You can hardly resist pointing in the direction of the cafeteria and saying "That way, Dude" Now things are beginning to fall into place. Now you feel like a "Big Senior" and you can't wait for the year to start rolling. First off you got to take care of that Senior portrait. Getting your picture in the yearbook is a MUST. Everybody gets his Senior portrait taken. Next you find yourself screaming for the Senior class at the pep rallies until your throat hurts. You don't always know what's going on with the football team but you that football season always ends with Senior day. Everybody gets in the line light at the game and all the girls wear mums and end up crying. Football gives way to basketball and next the Senior Class Play try-outs come along. Everybody gets involved some how: acting, scenery, costumes, make-up. Or if you don't make the show you can be a nasty critic. Not long after that you find yourself listening to the choir at the Christmas assembly. After holiday break everyone starts talking about colleges, S.A.T. scores, jobs, joining the army, or getting married. And you're not sure what you want. You even say something crazy like "I wish this wasn't my last year." About the last week of April you hear kids counting down the remaining days and then everything begins to happen at once. You send out commencement invitations to all your relatives (cleverly calculating how much it's going to cost them). You get your special gang together on on Senior Skip Day and head for Carnegie Park. Next comes the Senior Recognition Assembly and practically everyone gets an award of some kind. A couple of nights later it's your last Prom and finally the little affair at the Honus Wagner Field, the graduation of the Class of 1974. You're a man now or a woman. The "Big Bad Senior" is just a memory — one to be recalled everytime you open your yearbook.

President — Gary Ludin; Vice Pres. — Pam Grant; Secretary — Judy Granata; Treasurer — Ed Torchia. (not pictured) Sponsor — Mrs. Clay.

Female Sex On The Court

We come to school to learn about a truth we can meet and witness. And in searching for it, we find a common bond which ties us together with more strength. Our teachers help us to discover these truths through gentle persuasion and guidance, but most of all, we help each other by caring enough to give our time.

Happy. We celebrate. Gaily. Noisily. Excitedly. For the year brings with it many ribbons of sturdy silence. Togetherness can't be explained by noises or words. It's best considered in the quietness of our afterthoughts.

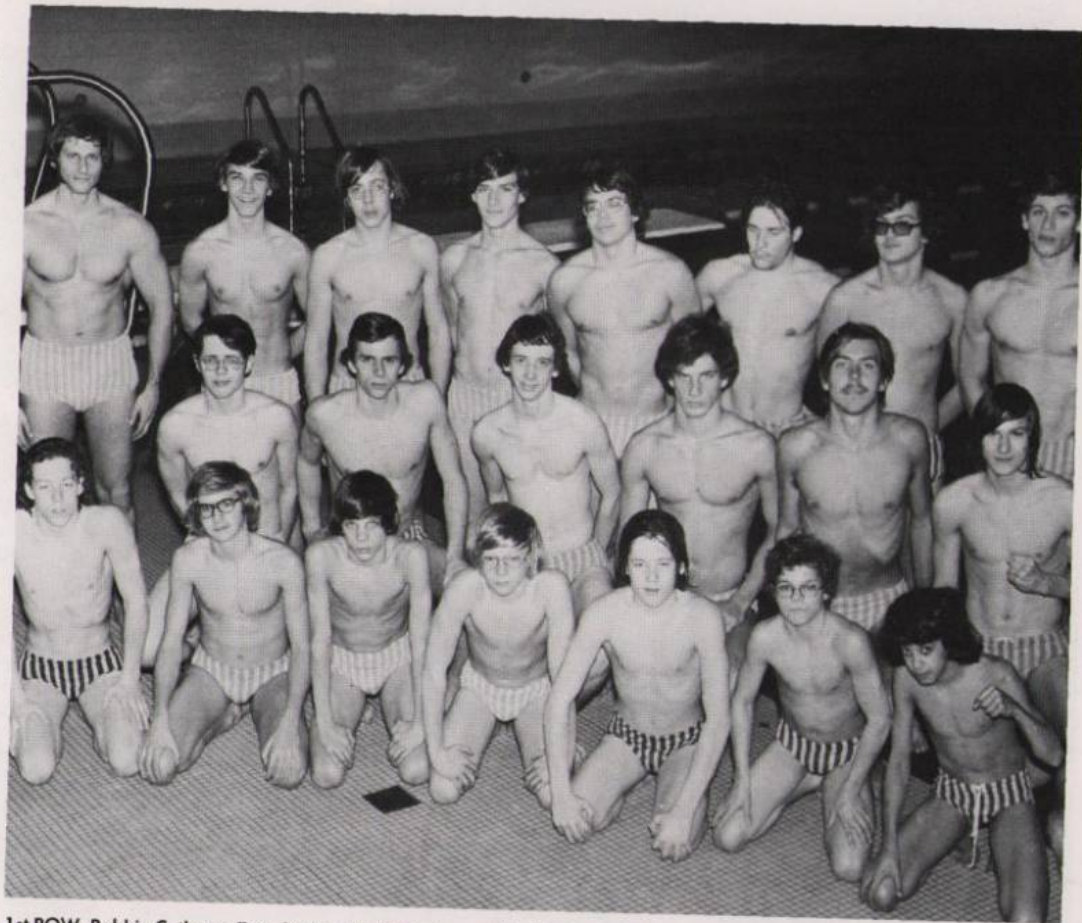

Team work. Discipline. Experiences — Dimensions. Friendships. Understanding. Sharing. We experience them all in straight-forward ways during the school day and in the most subtle ways after school. School activities are geared to teach.

Greenhouse Proves Successful

Members of the Carlynton High School Greenhouse Independent Study Program include Dave Brown and Mark Hopey with Mr. William Valalik as supervisor. The program had an excellent beginning this year. It was financed by a grant by the school board and funds from various activity groups within the school.

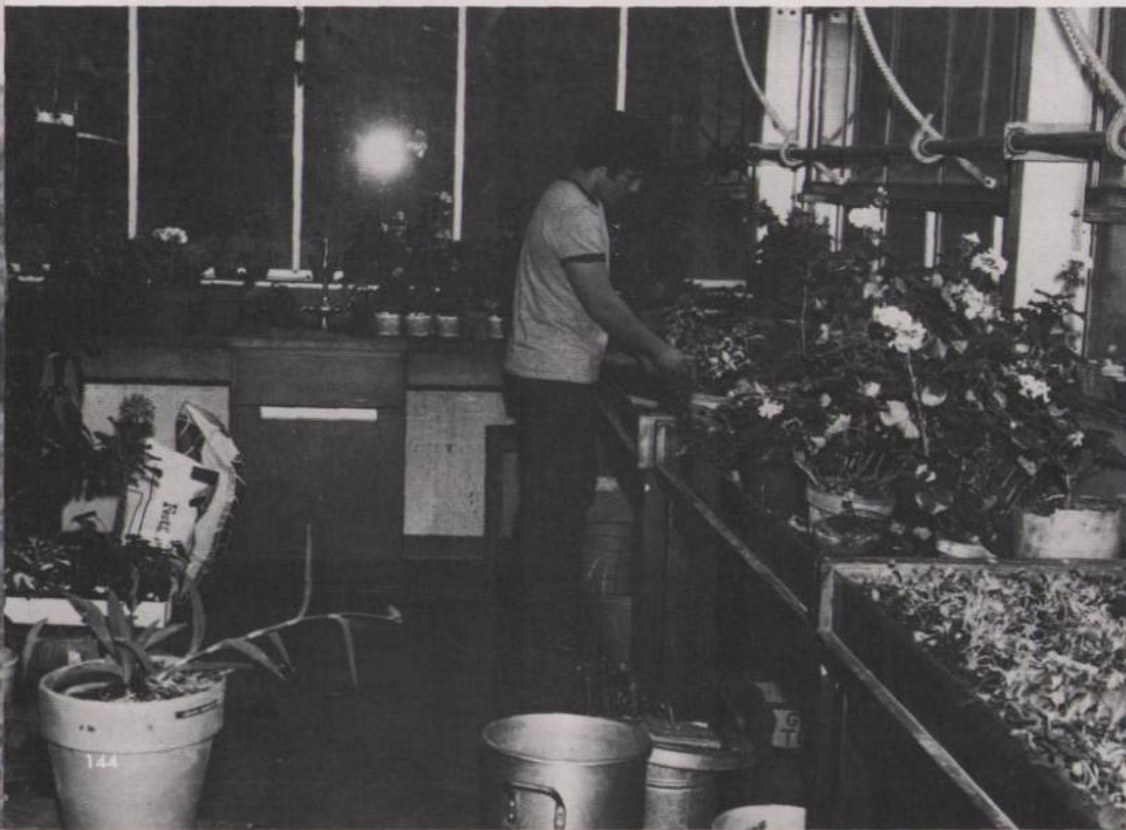

Mark Hopey

N.H.S.

There's something special about being a student at Carlynton. It's like living on a big sphere in the middle of space where you can see, hear, run, walk, sit, stand, stretch and take advantage of all the experiences that surround you. It's the life all around us at CHS that makes us more aware of ourselves and others. And it's in the living of each day and each experience that unlock new dimensions of our being. Making the most of our education. There's no reason to feel blocked off from reality as if life were only a dream. Doors are opened, paths are created and you find yourself united with the rest of the world.

Kids, Kids, Kids

The Child Development Center is maintained as a teaching device for the purpose of observing children by young adults enrolled in Child Development classes.

Pre-schoolers have the opportunity to enjoy other children their own age by taking turns on play equipment, by sharing play activities, and by gaining a degree of independence.

From this experience high school students learn about personality development and child behavior, observe the use of methods of gaining children's cooperation and getting along with others; and have chances to develop an increasing enjoyment of children.

The 1974 edition of the Reflections was not created overnight. A figure that would be more realistic would be hundreds of nights and days.

The staff of Reflections would like to give credit where credit is due and thank the various people who made contributions to our publication. Our thanks go to the administration of Carlynton, all the faculty members, Strem Studio, photographer Tony, Taylor Publishing Company, representative, Bob Albright, and our advertising patrons. We have tried to bring you a fine yearbook but our satisfaction comes from your satisfaction with this book.

"1974 Graduates"

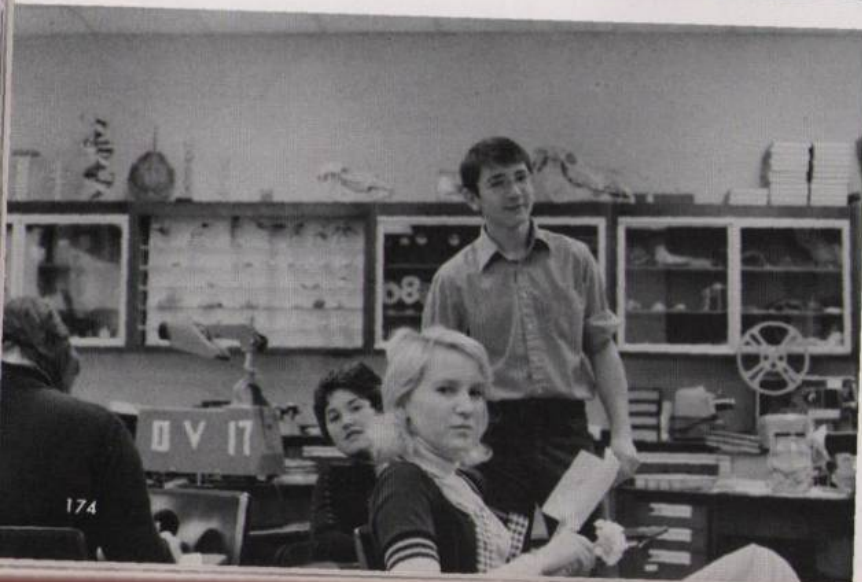

Once upon a time we lived with hearts that raced and minds that dreamed and clocks that had no hour hands.

With common goals and common longings, we laughed, we loved, we played, we won. Those were our school days, our happy days. They were real because we made them real. They were alive because we existed.

And then, as suddenly as they had dawned, they faded into the less carefree days of adulthood. And finally they are now gone . . . those happy days in school.

Around the corner are the unknown days of tomorrow. Who knows the future that they will bring?

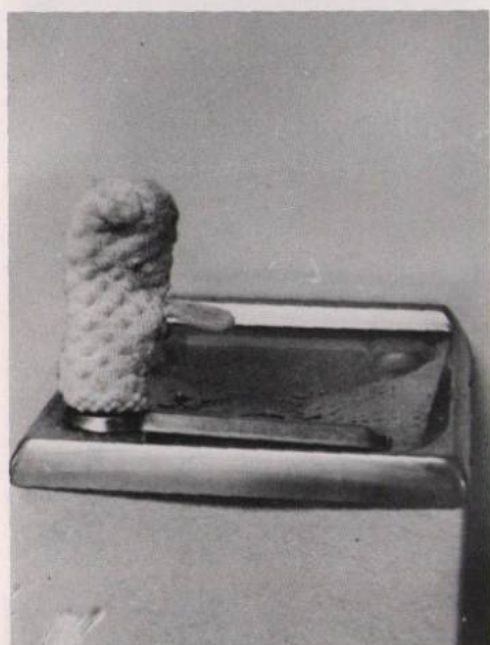

In years to come, as I look back, how will I remember? Will I remember only the happy time or the disappointments we also shared?

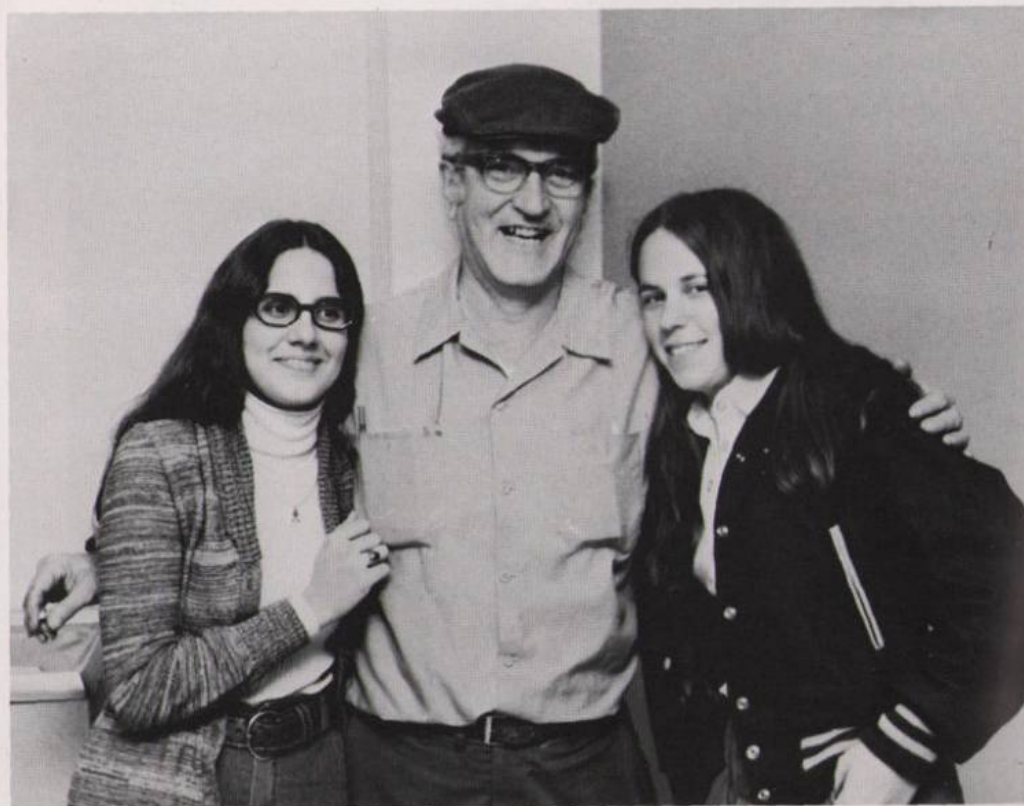

Did I express myself to the fullest extent and yet keep an open mind which welcomed the thoughts and opinions of others?

Did I utilize the days and the months to form lasting friendships with others. Or will the experiences we shared be lost forever with the closing of a book, never to be of benefit to me in a more serious later life?

Will I recall the good times of shared laughter that came from such simple things as having a coke, or enjoying the fresh spring sun? Was I alone or was I a real part of them? What will I remember?

A dark, moody photograph of a person in a field with trees in the background. The person is in the lower left, wearing a red tank top and dark pants, looking towards the camera. The background is a dense forest of trees, with light filtering through the canopy. The overall tone is somber and contemplative.

I do my thing, and you do your thing.
I am not in this world to live up to your
expectations
And you are not in this world to live up
to mine.
You are you and I am I
And if by chance we find each other
it's beautiful.

Frederick S. Perls
